CONFLICTING VERSIONS OF GIRL'S DEATH

Tazewell's Sheriff Still Probing Delavan Shooting

Delavan, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—Conflicting versions of circumstances surrounding the fatal shooting of pretty Mrs. Betty Crabb confronted Tazewell county authorities as her kinfolk prepared for private funeral services today.

Rites were scheduled at the spacious home of her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Crabb, where she lived since her marriage to James Crabb, 24, six weeks ago tomorrow.

Betty, 19 years old, thrice-married daughter of a prominent Chicagoan, Ill. family, was found shot to death in a bedroom of the Crabb home early Monday after she and her husband returned from a gay party in their honor.

Sheriff Ralph Goar said young Crabb's father, president of Delavan's only bank, summoned police to help him quiet the newsworld a short time before the fatal shot was fired.

The weapon belonged to James Crabb, the sheriff said. He added that the bridegroom said the pistol had not been used since 1933 until the day before Betty's death.

Used Gun Day Before
Sheriff Goar said James told him he bought new cartridges Sunday, loaded the pistol and tested it by firing it several times along the banks of the Mackinaw river.

The sheriff, who said he considered it "not impossible but improbable that the bride shot herself, revealed an alleged discrepancy in accounts of what followed.

Goar, who arrived at the scene a short time after the shooting, said he found an old-style .45 calibre revolver stuffed between the mattress at the head of the bed. He declared this gun was the death weapon. He said only the butt of the revolver was visible and that the body was on the bed.

Found Gun on Pillow
Merchant Policeman E. W. Ringo and Night Patrolman R. T. Burbridge, officers previously summoned by the elder Crabb, were in the yard when they heard the shot. They rushed in, finding the girl's body, they said, on the bed, with the gun on the pillow.

The elder Crabb, who was talking to the officers through a window when the gun was fired, said both the body and the weapon were on the floor.

James Crabb told the sheriff he was in the bathroom getting his wife an aspirin when he heard the shot. He said his step-mother was in her bedroom.

Sheriff Goar said he obtained this information in further questioning of the principals last yesterday. He added that the investigation would be halted until after the inquest called for tomorrow by Coroner Nelson Wright.

No Apparent Motive
Goar was unable to ascribe a motive for the shooting. Both the elder Crabb and Glen Collison of Champaign, the bride's father, said the young couple appeared happily married. They were wed after a

593 Lee County Citizens Were Unemployed Nov. 20 Census Says

In Lee county there are 593 persons, who, between Nov. 16 and Nov. 20, registered as totally unemployed and wanting work. This figure is according to the preliminary report on total and partial unemployment received from the office of Leo E. Allen, of the Thirteenth district, Illinois.

Of this number of persons wanting work, 474 are men and 119 are women. In this county with a population of 32,329 there are, according to the report, 124 persons working at WPA, N.Y.A., CCC or other emergency work and 450 persons registered as partly employed and wanting more work.

Of those employed by the government 113 are men and 11 are women; and of those wanting more work in this county 54 are women and 396 are men.

In Bureau county with a population of 38,845 there were 860 persons wanting work, 503 at emergency work and 626 partly employed. The figures for DeKalb county, with a population of 32,644, indicate 896 unemployed, 150 at emergency work and 656 wanting more work.

A total of 498 registered as unemployed in Ogle county with its total population of 28,118 and 94 are listed on emergency work rolls. In that county 401 asked for more work. In Whiteside county with a population of 39,019, 1,365 persons are listed as unemployed according to the survey of November, 1937, working at government jobs and 934 wanting more work.

West was appointed by Governor Horner in 1935.

Very Unusual

Today's "Situation Wanted" classified advertisements contain one of the most unusual this paper has ever published—an appeal by a Dixon woman whose husband is out of work, and who frankly admits she is "tired of having him around the house."

She guarantees to deliver him "in good working condition anytime, anywhere" and also pledges he will "give sober, steady and efficient service" to anyone who will take a chance on him.

NAVAL AFFAIRS GROUP APPROVES SHIP BUILDING

Pocket Battleships Approved In Talks At London

Washington, March 3.—(AP)—The House naval affairs committee approved legislation today to authorize a $1,113,546,000 expansion of the navy.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) announced the committee voted, 29 to 3, in favor of the bill.

Before acting finally on the measure which would add 46 combatant ships to the fleet, 22 auxiliary vessels and 950 planes, the committee adopted an amendment by Vinson declaring a policy of non-aggression for the navy.

The amendment also would commit the United States to maintaining a fleet strong enough to protect both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts from simultaneous attack.

Seek County Aid
Two applications for county aid in the repair of bridges and procuring of right of way were received by the board at the morning session. Mayor Paul A. Doty of Amboy petitioned the board to bear half the cost of improving the Washington street bridge in Amboy, which spans Green river. The estimated cost of repair is $1,589.95 according to figures submitted by County Superintendent of Highways Fred W. Leake.

Highway Commissioner Harry Weigle of Nachusa township petitioned the board for a loan of $8,000 from the county motor fuel tax fund, to be used in obtaining right of way for the modernization of the Lincoln Highway in Nachusa township. Both proposals were referred to the road and bridge committee for investigation and recommendation.

Other Business
A communication from Harold C. Cook of this city was read to the board, calling attention to the infestation of elm and fruit trees in the county this season by canker worms and requesting the county board to take action for the preservation of the shade and fruit trees. The building committee was empowered to investigate and give power to act.

Two petitions for blind pensions were filed with the board which were referred to the judiciary committee for a report. Henry Haselberg and Mrs. Algina Dauntler, both of Dixon, were the applicants.

Farmers throughout the county will receive 83 per cent of the amount claimed for sheep losses for 1937 and checks for the amounts are distributed to the supervisors of the several townships this morning.

Britain Hands Tax Payers, Potential Enemies Jolt Today

London, March 3.—(AP)—Great Britain today handed her potential enemies abroad—and her taxpayers at home—another jolt by announcing a 23 per cent increase in army appropriations for the coming year.

The army's share this year in Britain's colossal five year rearmament plan will be $106,500,000, or $532,050,000, an increase of $121,630,000 over the previous year.

Estimates for the airforce announced yesterday call for $557,630,000 to be spent in the fiscal year beginning April 1, the second of Britain's $7,500,000,000 five-year rearmament program.

The government, in an official report yesterday, said this $7,500,000,000 would not be enough in view of the epidemic of wars and higher costs resulting from continuous development of modern armament.

The admiralty will present its estimates for the navy tomorrow.

Because of the vast expenditures the British people face the prospect for new and increased taxes.

Australia Okays Italian-British Conversations

Canberra, Australia, March 3.—(AP)—Australia will support the British-Italian friendship talks, Premier Lyons announced today.

The decision was made, the premier said, after he received special assurance from British Prime Minister Chamberlain that the United Kingdom adhered to the foreign policy enunciated at the imperial conference in London last year, involving support of the League of Nations and collective security.

NELSONITES IN PLEA FOR YEAR-ROUND HIGHWAY

Lee County Board Requested to Take Immediate Action

Residents of Nelson township and citizens of the village of Nelson, today petitioned the board of supervisors for immediate action in the improvement of the Rock Island road and the highway into the village to permit year around traffic. More than a hundred signatures appeared on the petitions which were referred to the road and bridge committee to investigate and submit a recommendation to the board at the March meeting.

Sections of the Rock Island road have been impassable this year and in seasons past, and the residents of Nelson township have been seriously hampered in this respect. At one time the board arranged to build a black top road from the village of Nelson to connect with the surfaced highway on the Rock Island road at the Whiteside-Lee county boundary, but since that time other spurs and improvements have been planned and made.

Police Await "Break" In Case of Levine Lad Missing a Week Today

Father Refuses To Disclose Ransom Information

New Rochelle, N. Y., March 3.—(AP)—Police expectantly awaited a "break" in the case of 12-year-old Peter Levine, missing one week today, as reports persisted contact had been made with the supposed kidnappers.

The frantic father, Murray Levine, refused pointblank to admit whether he had paid the $60,000 investigators said was demanded in a third ransom note.

The New York attorney, who has remained since Monday cloistered within his fashionable suburban home with his wife and 10-year-old daughter, intimated a statement would be forthcoming soon. He again appealed to police to let him handle the case unaided.

Rabbi Abraham Nowak, supposed intermediary whose secretary found the third ransom message, and his wife returned home early this morning after a four-hour absence. The rabbi declined an explanation.

"Will Be Proper Time"
"There will be a proper time when you will have your information," he added, significantly.

Levine, weary from his long vigil, complained "crank" letters and telegrams had left the family "tired and distraught."

"We are getting hundreds of reports from north, south and west," he said.

Police who had been working secretly ever since the boy disappeared after leaving school last Thursday, announced they would take no further steps at present in deference to the father's fear their actions might lead kidnappers to harm his son.

IMPROVEMENT OF PERSHING SLOWS SLIGHTLY TODAY

Tucson, Ariz., March 3.—(AP)—Physicians maintained a close watch today on the condition of Gen. John J. Pershing, whose steady improvement slowed, although not sufficiently to arouse apprehension.

"There has been no appreciable change in General Pershing's condition since last night," said Dr. Roland Davidson in a bulletin at 10:40 a. m. (11:40 a. m. CST.).

"The general is not yet out of danger," said Dr. Davidson, and announced he would remain in constant attendance at the sanatorium.

Improvement shown by the 77-year-old World war commander late last night had not maintained the rate set in the previous 48 hours. But Dr. Davidson said that "should not be interpreted as offering occasion for alarm."

The general's progress, he said, probably would be in just such a manner, abating at times and then resuming.

Physicians and members of the Pershing family retained their optimism, and Dr. Davidson spoke of a protracted period of convalescence and return to "a reasonable state of health."

Function of Pershing's kidneys has been re-established, but it has not been determined if it is sufficient to remove the poisons which

Decatur Man Builds Up Booming Business and Smashing Monopoly

Decatur, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—Harry Beiler built a booming business out of broken bottles.

He has a smashing monopoly, so to speak, because, he allowed today, nobody else in Decatur seems to want to compete in the shattered glass industry.

Harry buys broken bottles and jugs at about $2 a ton from men who live in shacks near the city dump, and from small boys. He sells the broken glass to an Indiana concern that melts it for reclamation.

Water bottles, whiskey bottles, kind of glass.

Lost Is Found

Chicago, March 3.—(AP)—Herbert J. Guernsey was driving home when suddenly the Dearborn railroad station surrounded him. He was lost.

The salesman found himself bumping along the tracks with trains coming and going all about him. He saw men signal madly with red lanterns. When a train on track nine blocked his path, Guernsey decided to drive right up to the station master and admit he was lost, but two policemen were waiting instead.

Guernsey said it was just something that happened—not something he drank, and the policemen believed his story.

TRAFFIC VIOLATION
Mayor George S. Brydian of Prophetstown was arrested yesterday afternoon by State Highway Police Officers Mahan and Flach near Prairieville on the Lincoln Highway. He was ordered to appear before Justice Fremont Kaufman Friday morning at 11 o'clock to answer to a charge of passing traffic on a curve.

BURIAL HERE
The remains of Mrs. Jane Keenan, who passed away Monday at Clinton, Ia., were brought here yesterday for burial in Oakwood cemetery. Funeral services were held yesterday in Clinton and brief services here. Mrs. Keenan was the wife of the late Thomas Keenan and sister-in-law of Edward J. Keenan of Dixon.

UNEMPLOYED VETERANS
A concerted effort is being made by veterans' organizations and the federal employment service to have all unemployed veterans who are seeking work registered, and thus secure an accurate count of such idle ex-service men, this count not having been obtained in the recent mail census of unemployed. Idle Lee county veterans may register at the city hall in Dixon any Wednesday. It is stated such registration carries no promise of a job but assures the veteran of assistance in securing employment.

INJURED IN COLLISION
One of the cars belonging to the Yellow Cab line, driven by Robert Adams, and a machine driven by Mrs. May Bosley, 117 Harrison avenue, in which her two daughters, Thelma, 9, and Betty, 3, were passengers, figured in a collision in the driveway at the Prescott service station on North Galena avenue and Everett street about 10:15 last evening. Thelma Bosley sustained a fractured jaw and her mother and sister suffered from minor bruises, but were not seriously injured. It was found when they were taken to the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital, Adams' injuries were of a minor nature, but both cars were considerably damaged. The accident was reported to the police at about 11:30 and Chief Van Bibber and Patrolman Bohnstiel conducted an investigation.

Sped to British Service
Testifying at his trial with 20 other defendants charged with treasonable conspiracy, Ivanoff said that since 1934 he had spied for the British Intelligence Service on orders of the former Izvestia Editor Nikolai Bucharin's rightist center. Bucharin also is on trial.

Ivanoff also told of a plot to kill Nikolai Lenin. In 1918, he said, Bucharin talked about "removing Lenin."

"How?" asked Prosecutor Andrei J. Vishinsky.

"Up to physical destruction," Ivanoff answered.

Bucharin confessed that he had planned, with Alexis I. Rykoff, former Premier and No. 2 on the list of accused, an illegal counter-revolution rightist organization as far back as 1928.

But he denied he knew anything about spying for foreign powers.

The lumber concessions were to be granted to British firms, Ivanoff said, under plans drawn by his predecessor, Loboff.

Another defendant A. P. Rosenholz, as commissar for foreign trade, "sold the lumber to England at a tremendous loss to prove the center had power," the witness testified.

"It was a sort of deposit on account," Ivanoff, who was chief of the

LOS ANGELES ISOLATED BY FLOOD WATER

By The Associated Press
Fragmentary figures indicating possibly 48 dead, 16,000 homeless and many adjacent communities badly crippled trickled out of flood-stricken Los Angeles today.

Rain continued falling in the isolated metropolis of millions.

Snow still was falling in the mountains and foothills to the east. Flood waters due to torrential rains in the preceding 36 hours had receded in many places but the list of losses was growing.

Radio Corporation of America, which had been maintaining contact between Los Angeles and San Francisco, advised at 10:40 A. M. (12:40 P. M. C. S. T.) the power had failed in the southern metropolis.

MacKay radio still was operating with limited facilities and had an enormous jam of communications on file.

A plane with pictures of the flood disaster left Los Angeles during the morning and was approaching San Francisco, where the photographers were to be put on The Associated Press wirephoto circuit as soon as possible after the expected landing about 2 P. M. C. S. T.

Three planes left San Francisco shortly before noon with several persons, among them screen comedian Joe E. Brown, who had urgent business in the stricken city.

Los Angeles, March 3.—(AP)—Flood-ravaged southern California today saw the possibility that more than 50 persons lost their lives in a four-day storm climax by an unprecedented rainfall.

Eighteen persons were known to be dead and 18 missing, but the number was increased steadily by unconfirmed reports.

An undetermined number of storm spectators were washed into the ocean near Long Beach when the bridge on which they stood collapsed. The number lost was generally estimated at 10, but an appeal to ships at sea to watch for survivors or bodies said 45 were on the bridge at the time.

Unconfirmed reports raised to 15 the number of persons trapped and drowned in their automobiles when a cloudburst sent the Santa Ana river suddenly rushing over its banks. Originally five were listed as victims in this phase of the widespread disaster.

Radio Only Contact
Moderating conditions but more rain were forecast today. No immediate hope was seen of southern California re-establishing normal contact with the outside world. All regular channels of communication—train, plane, phone, telegraph—bus—were broken by the storm. Radio furnished the only outside contact.

Riverside, struck by the cloudburst-swollen Santa Ana river, reported 17 persons missing.

The town of Santa Ana, about 30 miles downstream, was inundated by three feet of water.

The number of homeless, estimated at 16,000 in southern California's coastal plain, mounted hourly.

From the storm, which reached a climax in most sections yesterday, southern counties suffered millions of dollars of property damage as bridges broke, highways sank, homes collapsed, stores ran brimming and gardens and ranch acreages were submerged.

The stricken area extended from Ventura on the north to San Juan Capistrano on the south; from the ocean to the San Bernardino mountains which divide southern California's coastal plain and the desert.

Sections Isolated
Flooded and washed out traffic arteries and toppled utility lines isolated wide sections.

As the rain, heaviest ever recorded here, subsided into sporadic showers at many points, victims cheered a forecast by government meteorologists that the worst was over. Only scattered and light rain was expected today. Rainfall in the last four days here totaled 16.69 inches.

Seriousness of the flood situation, however, led Mayor Frank L. Shaw of Los Angeles to mobilize the major emergency council. It was organized a year ago to cope with any major disaster in the metropolitan area and co-ordinate the work of peace officers, relief agencies,

State Highway Radio Engineer Fired By Smith

Springfield, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—Glen E. West, former professor of electrical engineering at Purdue university, held his discharge today as chief radio engineer of the state highway police division.

Public Works and Buildings Director Lynden Smith said West was discharged "because he would not co-operate with his superiors," and that John O. Weaver was acting temporarily in his place.

West, who supervised the construction and operation of the state's seven-station police radio system, asserted that his dismissal was without warning and that "no legitimate reason could be given for such action."

West was appointed by Governor Horner in 1935.

NATIONAL USED CAR WEEK WILL START SATURDAY

Move To Lift Industry Out of Current Depression Planned

New York, March 3.—A national drive to sweep the American automobile industry out of the current recession and stimulate American business generally was announced here today by Alvin Macauley, speaking for every American automobile manufacturer and the nation's 46,000 automobile dealers.

The campaign, to be known as "National Used Car Exchange Week" and scheduled to start Saturday, is an outgrowth of recent conferences at the White House between President Roosevelt and leaders of the automobile industry. Macauley said. The President has been advised of plans for the campaign, which is the first co-operative effort ever undertaken in which all American automobile manufacturers have taken part.

The campaign is timed at the outset of the spring selling season when both new and used cars usually begin to move in greatest volume, Macauley said. It is aimed primarily at stimulating the disposal of used cars stocks now in dealer hands. Once this is accomplished, a substantial increase in car manufacturing schedules and employment of wage earners in the automobile factories is anticipated.

To support the campaign, Macauley announced, the manufacturers will spend $1,250,000 in newspaper, radio and outdoor advertising and in other promotional channels. Two-thirds of the advertising budget will be spent in newspapers.

"The motor car industry," said Mr. Macauley in making the announcement, "is generally credited with showing the way out of the last depression."

"Today, the automobile manufacturers, their suppliers, the nation's 46,000 dealers and allied industries are launching a similar drive."

So far as the automobile industry is concerned, the most serious barrier to business improvement is the large stock of used cars in dealer hands, Mr. Macauley pointed out.

Faces Charges of Fleeing Prosecution

Chicago, March 2.—(AP)—Oliver Lawrence Dressler, alias Jack Russell, 37, was ordered removed to Tulsa, Okla., today to face a federal charge of fleeing from a state to avoid prosecution.

The order was entered by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. Dressler, self-styled "singing cowboy," was arrested here recently and accused of having robbed Mrs. O. B. Barnes, manager of a telegraph (Western Union) office in Bartlesville, Okla., of $60 on July 25, 1936.

STORIES IN STAMPS

STRAGGLING into Mexico City from Vera Cruz in 1519 with his tired but adventurous army, Cortez was startled to behold a vast pyramid rising from the dry cactus plains. The centuries had buried a great part of it but evidence of a mighty civilization still cropped up for many miles.

But Cortez did not stop to investigate. He sought gold, not archaeology. Nor did Mexico itself yield the scientific pick and shovel until 1916. What it uncovered then is one of the greatest monuments of all time—the Pyramid of the Sun.

The pyramid is located at Teotihuacan, 27 miles east of Mexico City. Towering 216 feet above the plain, 721 by 761 feet at its base, it is next in size to the Great Pyramid of Cheops in Egypt, and is largest, of course, on the American continent.

Who built it, science may never know. Even its age is mere conjecture. The earliest tribes settling on this tableland of which there is record were the Toltecs in 648 A. D. But when the Toltecs came they found many great pyramids and monuments, even then ancient.

So the Pyramid of the Sun, built apparently for worship of the sun gods, stands today in five vast sections, a grim challenge to men. And while science contemplates it even other temples and monuments are being uncovered around it.

It is shown here on a 1923 stamp of Mexico.

ADVICE TO LEWIS IS TO AVOID THE STATE OF OREGON

Governor Hopes Labor Chief Will Omit His Section

Salem, Ore., March 3.—(AP)—Outspoken Gov. Charles H. Martin, who frequently has clashed with C. I. O. officials, has advised John L. Lewis to omit Oregon from a reported Pacific Coast visit. He promised the labor chief a "warm reception" if he comes here. "I hope he stays out of here," said the retired army major-general. He said he planned no official action and did not disclose what the "reception" would include.

"Oh, he'll get a good warm reception all right, but it would be a good idea for him to stay out," said the governor, whose state for months has been the scene of bitter strife between C. I. O. and A. F. of L. unions fighting for control of the lumber industry.

Gov. Martin has assailed the federal government's labor policies and referred to Frances Perkins as "that miserable secretary of labor." He asserted Lewis would visit the state before the May primary election to "get together" with Charles W. Hope, regional director of the National Labor Relations board. "To put the C. I. O. in control of Oregon."

Previous Demand Martin previously demanded Hope "stay out of Oregon" and leave settlement of an A. F. of L. C. I. O. struggle for control of sawmill workers to local authorities, after NLRB certification of the C. I. O. as bargaining agency for 10 Portland mills failed to reopen them.

The fight for control of sawmill drive against labor terrorism in Oregon. More than 60 men, mostly A. F. of L. officials and union members, have been arrested and about a score have pleaded guilty to charges ranging from window smashing to arson and attempted bombing.

Furniture Moved Back Into Hotel; Legal Battle Ends

Marion, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—The 41 rooms of furniture was moved back into the three-story Goodall hotel and the hostelry was reopened today, ending a long legal battle.

Joe Benson, receiver for the Marion Trust and Savings Bank, finally succeeded in his effort to foreclose a mortgage on the building and its contents. Previously, a court had held that Sol Black and the Grant real estate exchange could retain possession of the building without rent, pending a credit set off for repairs Black said he had made.

During this litigation, Benson foreclosed the mortgage on the contents, moving out all the furniture and fixtures, with the aid of a constable. Black surrendered possession of the empty building last night, so the receiver moved the furnishings back inside.

DIXON BOYS TO GET CHANCE TO ATTEED "STATE"

Event Will Be Held in Springfield in June; Purposes States

A group of about six Dixon boys, members of the civics class at the high school, are to be given an opportunity to attend the annual boys state school at Springfield in June. The movement is sponsored annually by the American Legion of several states, and in Illinois the gathering is held at the state fair grounds at Springfield. Today, the memberships in the Dixon group had been sponsored by the Dixon post No. 12, American Legion, the American Legion auxiliary, Dixon lodge of Elks and State's Attorney Edward Jones, with others expected to be received. The school will be conducted in Springfield from June 19 to 26.

M. V. Stanford of this city is chairman of the Legion committee in charge of the boys' state program and the sponsoring organizations will defray the expenses of the boys selected to attend the school. Any organization or individual is invited to participate in the program and sponsor a candidate. Boys who are interested in the course may secure complete information from Principal B. J. Frazer at the high school, who is co-operating with the Legion committee in selecting the candidates.

Commander W. C. Wood of Dixon post No. 12, American Legion, today explained the plans and purposes of the Boys' State as follows:

Purpose Explained "The strength of any nation is not to be measured by the size of the armed forces of the nation alone—the army, the navy, or the air forces; but it lies in the character, the honor, the courage, and the sincerity of its citizenship. A nation is only as strong as its citizenship is strong. Citizenship, in addition to its various privileges, carries with it corresponding duties and obligations. A man is a good citizen only when he recognizes his duties and obligations."

"So that the citizens may be prepared to assume the responsibilities of citizenship with a realization of that responsibility, it is necessary that the young boy of today—the citizen and office-holder of tomorrow—understand the structure of his government, that he know about its separation of powers; that he be familiar with the various political subdivisions thereof, that he know the many offices and the duties, the powers and the limitations of the several offices."

"In order to encourage and develop an interest in and a further study of these problems, beyond that which the high school boy studies in the civics and history courses in the high school, the Boys' State was founded. Briefly, the Boys' State is a program of education. Frankly, it is an Americanism propaganda; it is a course in practical civics; in substance its purpose is to teach the youth of today, and especially the youth of high school age, that there is nothing wrong with our form of government, that it has not outworn its usefulness, that it is just as useful and just as practical now as the day it was founded; that all it needs is an intelligent citizenry and a clean, honest, impartial and fair administration."

In the Boys' State, the boys have their own city, county and state governments. They elect their own city, county and state officials. They learn the duties of the various public offices; their functions, their limitations, and their powers. They have their own legislature, introduce and argue their own bills, they have their own city councils, their own city officials. They make and enforce ordinances regulating their cities; conduct their own elections. They have their own police courts, police force and administer justice. The boy has a chance to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it.

Arrangements are being made to provide accommodations for about 2,000 boys at the camp this year. Last year 1,100 were in attendance and a staff of 49 persons, exclusive of guest speakers, instructors and attendants were present. When the camp is organized, the boys begin their program of government which is carried on under the supervision of trained leaders.

The majority of drivers in American automobile races prefer four-cylinder cars because the engines are less costly and are easier to take down and to assemble.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day of about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, leadenness and dizziness. Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's.

Fine Report of Chamber Of Commerce Activities Submitted by Officers

Organization Functioned Efficiently During Past Year

Following is the text of an excellent report of the activities of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce, submitted to the members and directors by President Charles E. Miller and Secretary Frances E. Patrick:

Membership Committee

During the year the members of the membership committee and members of the board have consistently endeavored to increase our membership roll by adding new members to the roster. Although a regular membership drive was not conducted, through the efforts of the above, thirteen new members were added to the membership. Three members died during the year, namely Martin Gannon, John G. Ralston and John Moyer. One moved out of town, and four resigned, having good legitimate excuses. This gradual growth indicates a healthy condition of the organization, and those who have secured new members are to be commended. The total membership is 150.

Publicity and Advertising

A page for publicity was written for the Dixon high school year book, and $15 given for advertising.

The Thomas Publishing Co. Register and the McRae Blue Book Buying Guide have been placed in the office of the Chamber of Commerce for the use of the public.

Five hundred thirty-two letters have been written during the year describing Dixon as to scenery, location, and pamphlets included in these letters, giving detailed information on other matters.

The Franklin Mutual Insurance Company in their house organ, the Franklin Almanac, which has a wide circulation, published a very interesting article entitled "Rock River, the Hudson of the West."

and pictures to illustrate the beauties along this river, were also printed.

The Columbia Encyclopedia of the Columbia University Press, published articles relative to the J. I. Case Centennial and requested the Centennial issue of the Dixon Evening Telegraph be sent to them.

Edward Valle, member of our Board of Directors, wrote a most interesting article for "The Town," weekly magazine. The article was entitled "Lincoln and Jefferson Davis Fought Together in the Black Hawk War." A splendid picture was included of the "Monument of Lincoln, the Soldier, at Dixon, Ill." This special edition had a circulation of 300,000, and was sent all over the United States.

As special courtesy to the Dixon manufacturers, a letter relative to their industries and merchandise was sent to all retail concerns handling their products.

A courtesy report of the Columbia Broadcasting System was filled out and forwarded to the company for their information.

A $15 ad in the premium book of the Lee County Farm and Horse Show and 1000 letter-heads with Dixon publicity printed on the reverse side, at the expense of $14.79 was authorized by the Chamber of Commerce.

Industrial Committee

This committee along with other members of the Chamber of Commerce deserve much credit. They have cooperated with the Freeman Shoe Company in every possible way since bringing them to Dixon and have endeavored to locate another industry for Dixon; the Specialty Machinery Corporation, located in the old American Body and Cab Building.

A dinner was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce June 17, to which all the membership was invited, and all those connected with the industries of Dixon. Many of the officials from the different industries attended. A fine attendance and good spirit made this industrial banquet a success.

Edward Valle, chairman of this committee, and his members have contacted several other prospects and have investigated every lead.

A proposed increase of the freight rates on coal coming into Dixon was vigorously opposed by the Dixon Chamber of Commerce and local independent coal dealers. Protests were drafted and filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission in Chicago.

In behalf of the local industries, legislative matters have been closely watched, and whenever any help could be given, such help was forthcoming, by appealing to our representatives and legislators.

Aviation Committee

Dement Schuler, chairman of this committee, states that much publicity has been given Dixon in aviation magazines and publications through the novel erection of the hangar constructed at the airport. Noted flyers and government planes have taken advantage of our field during the past year.

The Chamber of Commerce stood the expense of $35 for the painting of a large white sign on the roof of the hangar, thus informing the aviators of the landing field.

Good Roads Committee

The Good Roads Committee, and officials have worked untiringly for modernization of the Lincoln Highway from Geneva to Clinton, Iowa. They have cooperated with the Chicago Motor Club, who have been very active in sponsoring this movement. Meetings with committees from other towns, the adoption of resolutions relative to this matter, and signing of petitions have taken place.

The committee also went on record as being in favor of a system of elevated highways for Chicago; that it would be beneficial to all those using the Lincoln Highway and a resolution to this effect was adopted.

The outstanding accomplishment of this committee was the interview with Governor Horner and officials of the state highway department in Springfield, relative to a new Galena Avenue bridge. Sherwood Dixon, chairman of this committee, Mayor Slothower, O. F. Goeke of the State Highway Department, and Messrs. Davies, G. B. Shaw, Miller and Lennon had a very satisfactory interview and the results are that Dixon will have a new bridge across Rock River this coming year.

A campaign for a modern and more direct roadway from Route 77 southward through Mt. Morris connecting the east-west road which furnishes access to the State Pines Park is under way. The road committee will meet with members of Mt. Morris Kiwanis club to discuss further plans.

Drives and Tag Days

The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who is also secretary of the Lee County Chapter of the American Red Cross assisted Cal G. Tyler, Roll Call chairman and Robert Sterling, General Chairman of the Lee County Chapter in conducting a very successful membership drive. Through the cooperation of President Mau and Secretary Yale of the Lee County Farm Bureau, the townships in the county generously donated towards this worthwhile movement.

The Boy and Girl Scout Organizations held their membership drive in September. Both these organizations have headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce office.

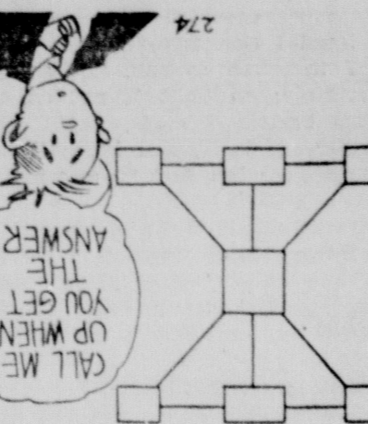

Tag days were sponsored by the Maude Ballington Booth Heart Day and the American Brotherhood of the Blind, headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Walter L. Larsen, managing director of the National League of Community Concerts of Chicago, asked the cooperation of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce in forming a committee to promote concerts for Dixon. Names of those who might be interested were submitted to Mr. Larsen and the outcome of this is the "Dixon Concert Association."

The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce compiled a card index of possible members and helped in securing members for this

Brain Twizzlers

By
PROF. J. D. FLINT

Twizzlers come from the strangest places. This one was fallen into, so to speak, by an ardent fan who is also a phone booth artist. While fiddling with a pencil and paper during a conversation one day he drew two triangles, one above the other. The top one had its apex pointing down, the other one up so that they joined and formed an X.

At this point the wandering pencil started to leave numbers in its wake. Each was a digit and one fell at each of the four corners of the hour-glass-like diagram. This seemed hardly enough so another digit fell at the intersection and then a vertical line appeared running from the base of one triangle through the intersection to the base of the other, and lo and behold! Two more digits fell where the vertical line joined each of the two bases.

Now, the strangest thing of all was that wherever three numbers were connected by a line, they added up to twelve. With the seven little squares ready to receive their seven digits car, you supply them so they add up to twelve as specified.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S TWIZZLER

The presidents' names decoded are: 1. Adams, 2. Wilson, 3. Johnson, 4. Washington, 5. Buchanan, 6. Jackson, 7. Pierce, 8. Lincoln, 9. Coolidge, 10. Taylor, 11. Harrison, 12. Roosevelt.

organization. The concerts have been much enjoyed and it is hoped the organization this coming year may secure talent equally as clever as this past year.

Retail Merchants' Committee
Harry Beard, chairman of this committee, sponsored a most successful event July 24, a big pet parade and the showing of the Harwood animals through Dixon's business district. Over $40 in cash was donated for the best entrants.

September 16 to 22 the merchants sponsored a most outstanding fall style opening; prizes were awarded to the amount of $55 to those guessing the most correct number of articles in the merchants' windows. Windows were unveiled for counting Thursday night, Sept. 16.

The annual fall festival held Sept. 28, 29 and 30 added to the activities of the merchants. Grover

Wilhelm, general chairman, and Harry Beard with their assistants are to be congratulated on the success of this undertaking.

A Halloween dance for young people was given by the Chamber of Commerce at Armory hall, with the assistance of the Girl Scouts. The expense of the orchestra was defrayed by the Chamber of Commerce.

Due to the fact that the old Christmas lights were no longer suitable for the new lighting system in the business district, the merchants purchased new Christmas lights, the cost of lights and erecting of same amounting to $819.37. Mr. Beard and his helpers collected most of this amount from the merchants, who donated generously towards the project.

Dollar days, Dixon merchants' city-wide spring and fall openings, special sale days have been observed by the merchants. All these events and efforts on the part of the merchants give the citizens of Dixon an opportunity to benefit by these trade days.

Retailers' occupation sales tax blanks may be secured at the Chamber of Commerce office for the convenience of the merchants.

Civic Matters

A request was made by members to have better train service east out of Dixon in the morning; this matter was taken up with the Chicago & North Western Railway traffic department.

Dixon's own insurance company, the Bankers Life Insurance Company, was given support by members of the organization, and they are now located in fine offices in the new Rorer Building.

The cooperating with the officials of the Lee County Fair and Horse Show held August 27, 28 and 29 at the Dixon airport was another civic activity.

The closing of the stores for one hour on Good Friday was observed by the merchants.

The Dixon Chamber of Commerce directors have extended the Junior Chamber of Commerce the use of their office for meetings, also the services of the secretary.

Conventions

Many meetings, much publicity, the decorating of business streets and main highway for the J. I. Case Centennial held in Grand Detour came under the activities of the convention committee of which J. L. Glassburn is chairman. This centennial was in commemoration of the beginning of the steel plow industry and dedication of the Leonard Andrus monument at Grand Detour.

Assistance was given the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the homecoming celebration held July 5 at the Assembly park. It was one of the most outstanding celebrations ever held in Dixon.

January 20 and 21 the Illinois Holstein-Friesian association held a very interesting convention in Dixon due to the endeavors of the Chamber of Commerce and the local association. A luncheon was held at the Masonic Temple on January 20 and headquarters were maintained at the Elks' Club. George Fruin was general chairman of the ticket committee for the luncheon served and Charles E. Miller, president of the Chamber of Commerce took charge of the luncheon and other detailed arrangements. Roi Degner is secretary-treasurer of the Rock River Valley Assn. This association has held meetings in the Chamber of Commerce office throughout the year for the members in this district.

Investigations

Through information received from the Illinois Chamber of Commerce and the United States Chamber of Commerce of which the Dixon organization is a member, also the Better Business Bureau of Chicago, many investigations were made during the year. Those asking for this information saved money and risks. Also statistics on different subjects, legislative matters, locating of firms, addresses, have been other worthwhile activities of the organization. In other words the Chamber of Commerce has served as a clearing house.

Miscellaneous

Through the free employment bureau of the Chamber of Commerce over 60 temporary positions have been secured for applicants and 20 permanent ones.

Our general information bureau is available to all and much information is given through correspondence on requests for same.

Number of communications received during the year 1423.

Number of information calls received 4751.

Number of conferences and committee meetings 68.

Employment inquiries 211.

Number of subjects handled using the Chamber of Commerce as a clearing house 9.

Letters typed and mimeographed, communications sent out 15675.

Sleeping and light housekeeping rooms have been listed and this information given to those seeking locations.

On November 9 a dinner for the entire membership of the Chamber of Commerce was given at the Elks' Club. The object of this meeting was to have the members express their opinions and desires to what they wished their organization to work on for the remainder of the year. Some very good suggestions were given by those present and it was the consensus that more of these meetings should be held.

Auditing Committee

Joseph Graff and L. E. Jacobson compose this committee. Their duties have been to audit the books for the year, and have served as tellers for the election of new directors for the ensuing year.

AH, DRIVER, SPARE OUR TENDER NERVES

New York state has taken a happy step which other states will be following one of these days—the introduction of a bill to curb automobile horns.

Anti-noise campaigns are old stuff and they fit into a pattern for cities, but the automobile horn is an old raucous offender wherever the auto may be and as long as the motorist has strength to push the right button—long and hard.

You walk along a city street and are aware of a multitude of sounds, accustomed sounds that form a background for thoughts and conversation—the whir of tires, the rattle of a cart, the cry of the newsboy, the bustle of unloading vans, the scrape of feet on asphalt.

Stepping through the farmer's barn lot (because no one ever walks country lanes any more) are the rural noises that poets have made idyllic—the moo of a bursy, the crackle of corn between the teeth of enthusiastic shoats, the rustle of the elm tree by the fence, the murmur of the creek back of the barn. More self-effacing noises, these. They don't intrude, but fall forgetfully into the dim, unheeded corners of the brain where noises should retreat.

Enter the automobile horn. It is two-toned, half-toned, vile-toned, and bad-mannered. It startles, it screams, it rides rough-shod over meditation and conversation. It shatters nerves and moods, roughens tempers, starts fights and makes enemies. It breaks sleep, dreams and eardrums.

The horn is necessary, you say, a necessary evil. Perhaps, although that's a grudging admission.

But is it necessary for the manufacturers to build them so evilly ingenious? So that by pressing a button the driver looses a thousand green demons which stride your spine with stabbing steps, driving their trident-barbed spears into your brain with gleeful gusto and a twist that sends your brain fibers curling and writhing like a buck-eftul of blacksnakes.

This is a pious plea for moderation in motor horns, uniformity and soothing tones. Let them fit into everyday life like the call of the traffic cop or whippoorwill. Let them hilt or coo or caress, but don't let them quaver and bellow and screech.

Then, if you get run over, you at least haven't been petrified first.

RUSSIA'S OLD ALLY

A century and a quarter ago Napoleon retired from Russia, defeated not by the Russian armies but by a stronger, fiercer, and more inexorable foe—winter.

Today the amazing feat of four Soviet navigators who floated on their ice raft for eight months and 1000 miles, finally landing safely on board a couple of ice breakers, must be a comforting reminder to Russians of their greatest ally.

The New Russia feels intensely the peril of attack from both east and west. Despite its huge expanse of territory and its comparative remoteness, the Soviet Union fears, just as the old Czaristic Russia feared, a dual invasion.

And that is why this accomplishment of the four scientists must happily remind the Soviet military leaders that the Red Army has powerful reinforcement in that old, inevitable ally—King Winter.

COLLEGE FLYERS

In spite of the militaristic age in which we are living, there are few people, probably, who actually consider the U. S. army as a career. The army considers itself a career, though, and so do a lot of young American college men, obviously.

An intensive drive for the March 1 class at the Army Air Corps training center, Randolph Field, Texas, brought applications from more than 1200 young men. Seventy of these, all with the required two years or more college education, were admitted to final physical and flight tests. Only 19 passed. New recruiting signs are up on the streets of eastern cities asking for more college-bred volunteers for the 21 places remaining in the class.

Aviation has always been considered a ranking branch of the army—and navy—both romantically and intellectually. It has attracted a higher grade of recruits. The fact that the government has now placed a requirement of two years' college education on enlistment is plain proof of the army's intention of keeping its flying branch composed of men who can conceive orders as well as carry them out.

THE PRINTED WORD

There is magnetism in the printed word. In the newspaper business we become familiar with the fact that people damage themselves and their reputations immeasurably and care not—as long as their names do not appear in the newspaper in relation to such conduct. The gossip may be on every person's tongue, "but isn't there some way we can keep it out of the paper?"

Then there is the brighter side. The printed word is just as important a factor in spreading good tidings as in spreading bad tidings. We are going through a period now when advertisers are making experiments with the spoken word, compared to the printed word, in reaching people with their messages.

In this connection it is of particular interest to note that on occasion of the Mae West broadcast, among the letters of protest sent to the broadcasting company 300 said the writers never would use any more of a certain brand of coffee, but the brand mentioned was one other than the one sponsoring the broadcast.

Would such a widespread error be likely to occur in event of use of the printed word, instead of a word that is gone in an instant?

The trend of spoken advertising now is to give the Hollywood stars and their pictures the advertising and to charge the bill to the commercial sponsors.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SERVING WITH WHAT WE HAVE

Text: Mark 6:1-13

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Editor of Advance

To those of us who read the New Testament story of Jesus and His earthly ministry, especially in the light of all that has happened during the Christian centuries, it seems amazing that anyone should ever have doubted the Master or should have questioned the integrity of His teaching, and the beauty and power of His mission.

Yet if we put ourselves back in the place of those who lived in Nazareth, where Jesus was brought up, and we think of what our attitude might be today if some man whom we knew just as an ordinary dweller in our community should suddenly announce that he had a prophetic mission and important teaching to declare, we shall understand a little of the attitude of those whom perhaps we are wont to condemn.

It was not unnatural that those who listened to Jesus were astonished at His teaching, that they should ask, "Where did this man get such wisdom? Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary, and brother of James and Judas, and Simon? And are not his sisters here with us?" It was, I say, natural that they should ask such questions. Possibly it was not unnatural also that they should have been offended in Him; but here, nevertheless, they were wrong; and it was here that the simple fishermen and others who listened to Jesus and who approved His teaching were right.

Truth does not depend upon the wealth, or position, or popularity, of the man who utters it. Truth is truth, and right is right. The right mind and the open mind would not have condemned this new teacher just because He was, a humble carpenter, and did not seem to have the learning and authority of the men of the schools. They would have said, "Are his words true? Is his character good? Are the good works that he does evidences of his power and willingness to help his fellow men?"

Jesus felt very keenly this attitude of those of His own community. He reminded them that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country. More noteworthy is the fact that He could do no mighty work there because of the unbelief of those people. Is even the good work of God limited by the hostile and unresponsive attitude of His children? Jesus marveled because of their unbelief. But their unbelief did not discourage Him or affect Him in His mission to proclaim the Gospel.

We forget that Jesus was an organizer, that He was not simply a highly idealistic teacher, willing to set forth His ideas to those who came to listen. His mission was aggressive; He called upon Him the twelve whom He had chosen, and He sent them forth to proclaim the Kingdom of God. He demanded of them sacrifice and devotion. The Kingdom and its proclamation were to be their sole interest. So it was that the twelve, and later other seventy, also whom Jesus appointed, went forth calling upon men to repent, and in the name and power of Jesus performing wonderful works.

The title of the lesson is "Serving with What We Have." We of a modern day may not have the power of these apostles. We may not have the gifts of healing. But we all have some faculties and powers that we could devote to the Master. It is out of the giving of what people have had, even though it seemed little, that the great achievements of the Gospel have been made.

STRANGEST AND LONGEST GOLF MATCH ENDED

Littlecote, Eng., March 3—(AP)—match on record ended Tuesday when W. R. Chamberlain, 75, a farmer, carried his victorious opponent to his grave.

Sixteen years ago Chamberlain and George New, 66, village postmaster, vowed they would fight out their golf match "to the death." Chamberlain finally buried New with the score standing 479 holes up for New. Medal scores for the 16-year long match were: New 86,379; Chamberlain 88,016.

The veterans met every Thursday at the local nine-hole course and played under their own rules. For every hole won, the winner was given a single point. A birdie counted six points and an eagle twelve. They even penalized each other five points for being late at the first tee and gambled a half-penny (one cent) a point.

The last match was played January 13 when they finished 18 holes all square. On that day each had to buy his own tea under their rules.

Several days later New fell ill. He died Sunday and Tuesday was buried not far from the golf course.

Day by Day Lessons for Reading During Lenten Season

Read I Cor. 2:26-27.

I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air; but I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection; lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway.

During these three days we are invited to get ready for our journey to Jerusalem. The Church points us to the great Lenten duties.

And first, Fasting.

Fasting, not as an end but as a means. This is a season of discipline, of abstinence from some of the good things to which we are accustomed. It has been appointed for us in order to remind us that food and drink, and sleep and recreation are intended to make our bodies willing instruments for the work God has given us to do. We easily forget this; or we put it off. Therefore the Church says Now, "Whether therefore ye eat or drink or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

Our Lord shows us that the best result of fasting is that gladness and freedom of heart which come to us when we are no longer slaves to our own desires. When we, as we fast, wear "a sad countenance" we show that we are not among the children of the free.

Save us, Lord, from low contentments and easy ways; grant us to welcome every call to high endeavor and self-sacrifice.

ROWLEY HOLDS CUB TRAINING CLASS IN POLO

E. A. Rowley, field executive for the Lee and Ogle districts of the Blackhawk Area Council, conducted a training class last evening in the Polo grade school building for parents of prospective Cubs of that city. This session was the first of the course consisting of two meetings for the purpose of acquainting parents and prospective leaders with the Cub program.

The Cub program is being sponsored by the Polo Woman's club for the boys of the community and a committee consisting of the following women is in charge of organization: Mrs. Charles Wolf, chairman, Mrs. G. C. Terry, Miss Ida Walker, Miss Leva Missman, and Mrs. R. K. Reed. In addition to the training course, which is now going on, pack leaders are being recruited and trained, den mothers are being secured and den chiefs are being recruited from the ranks of the scout troop.

The second session of the course will be held in the grade school building next Wednesday evening at 7:30. At this meeting the pack organization, den meeting programs, pack programs, special seasonal activities, etc., will be discussed. In addition to this there will be moving pictures of Cubbing in operation that will give parents and leaders an opportunity to visualize what has been discussed in the meetings. Following the pictures, the organization of the leadership of the pack will be completed and a date set for the first meeting of the boys. It is expected that there will be about twenty-five Cubs in the pack when it is organized.

1. Good or bad housekeeping is probably not inherited as a single set of traits, like music or mechanics, yet I have collected half a dozen cases which for at least three generations have been actually famous for poor, slovenly housekeeping. The floors are rarely swept—and when they are the dirt and lint are swept into the corners or under the beds, the curtains hang at half mast and everything is covered with dust. I sat all evening in one of these homes, discussing music and philosophy, in which the parents are famous,

with the stuffing of my chair, and unconsciously, have organized all the individual's powers toward their realization.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Emphatically so. This is not because the mere dreaming tends to change events. They do not, but they change you. They tend to fasten your attention on every-thing that leads in that direction. Thus gradually all your faith, will and energies drive you towards achieving your dream. Nearly all great achievements have first been day-dreams and both consciously

Home Bureau Unit Has Fine Meeting

The meeting of the Nelson unit of the Lee county Home Bureau held at the spacious home of Mrs. George Ransom was a most enjoyable one. Mrs. Ella Phillips and Mrs. Albert Heckman assisted the hostess in entertaining.

A lovely bouquet of spring flowers decorated the center of the dining room table, and made a perfect setting for the veritable feast at noon.

Mrs. Joy Atkinson, the unit chairman, presided during the meeting with 18 members, five associate members and 11 visitors present.

Miss Elizabeth Colean, the home adviser, gave a very interesting and instructive lesson on the "Laundering of Wool and Silk" giving a demonstration of the various steps as she talked.

Mrs. Robert Bollman then introduced some recreation as a diversion. After which she gave one of a series of articles on "Lee County History."

Mrs. Charles Atkinson concluded the program with an exceptionally well written paper on "Better Living."

Program Enjoyed At Aid Meeting

On Friday, Feb. 25, 88 ladies of the Methodist Ladies' Aid met for a co-operative luncheon in the dining room of the church. After singing the doxology the ladies began to sing "Happy Birthday to You" and a beautiful birthday cake with candles was brought in and placed before Mrs. Buxton. In a little while the ladies from Circle One sang "Happy Birthday" and another beautiful cake was presented. Mrs. Buxton thanked the ladies of the Aid and Circle One in a gracious manner. At the end of the luncheon everyone was treated to birthday cake.

The regular business meeting followed. Mrs. Olds had charge of the devotions and selected as her subject, "Stewardship." She led in prayer. Miss Clara Armstrong entertained with two beautiful piano solos, "Meditation" by Lund and "Ballad in G-Minor" by Rheinberger.

In a very pleasing manner Mrs. J. N. Weiss and Mrs. W. S. McCole presented a dialogue digest of modern books which included the modern works of Aldous Huxley, "Return to Religion" by Dr. Henry C. Link, "Prodigal Parents" by Sinclair Lewis, and "Katrina" by Salinger.

The meeting was closed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

FALSE ALARM

Raleigh, N. C.—(AP)—Two North Carolina forest wardens set out in a hurry to extinguish the aurora borealis, or northern lights, thinking it was a forest fire.

They drove several miles at a fast clip before finding out the bright glow in the north was not what they thought it was.

ILLINOIS GIVEN ITS ALLOTMENT OF '38 ACREAGE

Urbana, Ill., March 3—(AP)—Illinois' corn acreage allotment under the new AAA program for 1938 will be approximately 7,348,396 acres, or a reduction of about 20 per cent from the 10-year average. It was announced today by Claude R. Wickard, north central regional director of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Wickard's announcement was made at a meeting of the state AAA committee, representatives of the University of Illinois college of agriculture and others who soon will hold district, county and community meetings of farmers to explain the farm act program.

"Illinois' allotment of about 7,348,396 acres represents about a 20.8 per cent reduction from the normal corn acreage for the past 10 years of about 9,200 acres," Wickard said.

Saying county corn acreage allotments probably would be announced early next week, Wickard continued:

"County corn allotments will be established by the state committee by distributing the state acreage allotment on the basis of the acreage of corn planted during the 10 years 1928-1937 inclusive, plus the acreage diverted in applicable years under the AAA and conservation programs, and taking into account abnormal weather conditions and trends in acreage.

"County allotments then will be apportioned to farms through county and township committees on the basis of tillable acreage, crop rotation practices, types of soil and topography."

NIEMOELLER'S FREEDOM SHORT

Berlin, March 3—(AP)—Authoritative quarters today confirmed that the Rev. Martin Niemöller, vigorous opponent of the Nazi church policies, had been arrested last night immediately after his release from jail.

The pastor was given technical freedom after conviction of speaking against government leaders and violating public regulations.

It was explained authoritatively, however, that it was necessary to place the Protestant pastor in "protective arrest" because "there is considerable public excitement over the lenient sentence of the court with every likelihood that demonstrations against him would occur."

Foreign observers noticed no particular excitement among the populace yesterday—except among members of Mr. Niemöller's congregation—but it was soon apparent that the verdict had aroused irritation in Nazi circles.

There was some likelihood that Nazi groups, with or without official encouragement, might have reacted violently against any congratulatory celebrations at the pastor's church in suburban Dahlem if the former submarine commander had been permitted to greet his congregation.

It was expected the secret police would keep Mr. Niemöller in a concentration camp at least a few months in the expectation that interest in his fate gradually would cease to agitate the foreign public.

The court which sentenced the clergyman yesterday held that a seven-month sentence was liquidated by the more than seven months he spent in jail waiting trial. He must pay a $600 fine, however.

TEXAS EXCAVATORS FIND ANCIENTS HAD AIR-COOLING

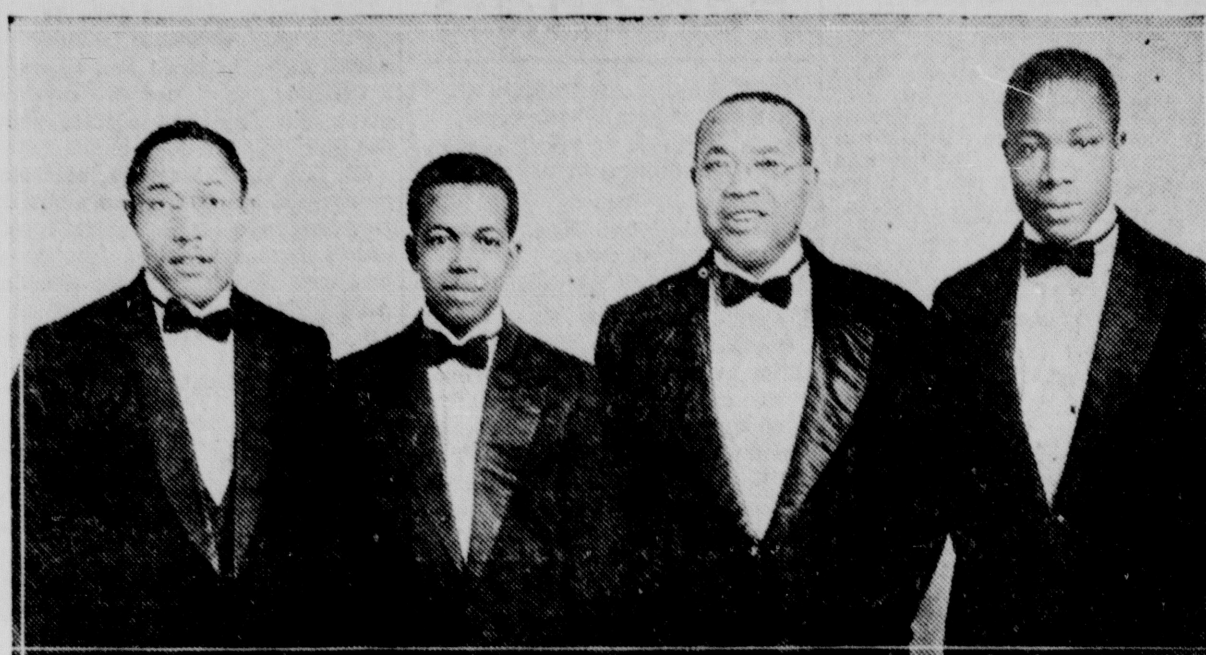

Amarillo, Texas—(AP)—Air-conditioned apartment houses thousands of years old have been uncovered in the Texas Panhandle.

Ruins of an ancient race which archeologists say was highly civilized are being excavated and studied under the sponsorship of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society. The society has obtained a $10,000 WPA grant for the work. One building to be restored had 164 rooms built in apartment house style.

The ruins show a type of summer air-conditioning. A large stone was placed so it could deflect air currents in or out of a ventilating shaft. Fireplaces were used for heating.

The archeologists studying the ruins say the race existed 3,000 to 4,000 years ago, about the time biblical authorities date the Exodus.

FOUR RUFIANS ATTACK HEAD OF JAPANESE PARTY

Tokyo, March 3—(AP)—An attack by four ruffians on Isao Abe, head of the Social Mass party, shunted aside today study of the government's drastic war control bill in a riotous session of a parliamentary committee.

The 73-year-old party chieftain was clubbed in his bedroom by assailants who cursed his political views as leader of the party whose position on the measure has not been announced.

Members of the two major parties, Minseitō and Seiyūkai, have attacked the bill as Fascistic. It was believed ill-informed rightists mistakenly attacked Abe.

When the committee reconvened, Social Mass representatives launched a savage attack on Admiral Nobumasa Suetsugu, home minister and one of the national mobilization bill's chief defenders.

"We believed in the home minister's previous statements that he would suppress those disturbing peace and order whether they were Liberals or Nipponists," shouted Jotaro Kawakami, Social mass leader.

Suetsugu expressed regret that the attack had occurred, saying Parliament members have a right to expect freedom of expression during national mobilization debate.

Kawakami then jumped to his feet, crying:

"The home minister's reply can not be regarded as one from a responsible statesman. I ask the premier to reply, giving us assurances of protection against assaults."

CRITICISM MAY BRING PROBE OF FEDERAL AGENCY

Washington, March 3—(AP)—Chairman Arthur E. Morgan's criticism of fellow directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority, informed persons predicted today, virtually will assure an investigation of the federal agency.

Morgan, issuing an 8,000-word protest last night against the policies of Dr. H. A. Morgan and David E. Lillienthal, declared their differences had gone far beyond the bounds of "just another family quarrel."

The chairman charged that the other two directors, without notifying him, had entered into a "friendly agreement" with Senator Berry (D-Tenn.) to appraise the value of Berry's marble deposits now flooded by the backwaters of Norris dam.

"I vigorously and repeatedly protested this agreement, holding that it seemed to give the color of propriety and legitimacy to what appeared to me to be an effort to defraud the government," he added.

Berry's properties were termed "commercially worthless" by a federal commission Tuesday. He and his associates had put a value of $5,000,000 on them.

Morgan suggested a joint Senate-House inquiry. A pending proposal of Senator Norris (D-Ind.), approved by a Senate committee, would direct the federal trade commission to conduct the investigation.

Speaker Louis Lewis Attacks Chicago Machine Today

Louis E. Lewis, the Horner candidate for state treasurer, declared at a meeting at the Dixon Armory today the Democratic factional fight in the primary campaign "will determine once and for all whether the people or machine politicians shall govern Illinois."

Lewis attacked the rival ticket which has the backing of the Chicago Democratic organization and said:

"If the machine falls again this year in its attempted comeback after its defeat at the hands of Governor Horner in 1936 you may be sure it is through. Then there will be on machine mayor of Chicago in 1939 and there will be no machine candidate for governor in 1940."

Mr. Vernon, Ill., March 3—(AP)—Concluding that first week of his campaign tour, Congressman Scott W. Lucas of Havana, Horner candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination, said in an address last night that downstate Illinois would give the governor's slate another victory April 12.

"The response to Cook county's 'bossism' and to our pleas for political justice for downstate Illinois has demonstrated that downstate voters are going to repeat their performance of two years ago, when they gave such a tremendous majority to Governor Horner."

Lucas heads the state and national ticket endorsed by the administration and opposed by a slate of candidates backed by the Mayor Kelly-Patrick Nash Democratic organization of Chicago.

He and Thomas O'Hern, Peoria candidate for congressman-at-large, addressed voters in 30 cities during the last week.

Rockford, Ill.—(AP)—Renewing his attacks on the Mayor Kelly-Patrick Nash political organization, State Senator C. V. Smith, Democratic candidate for U. S. Congressman-at-large on the Horner ticket, told an audience last night that the Chicago faction was interested in the primary campaign solely for "more power and more money."

"Only by defeat of the Chicago bosses can the forces of good government triumph in Illinois."

Speaker of the House Louis E. Lewis, candidate for state treasurer, praised the Horner administration, saying it had "brought order to a

BELLEVILLE MAY GO TO COURT TO SECURE RELIEF

IERC Awaits Threatened Suit for Mandamus by City Officers

Springfield, Ill., March 3—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission awaited today the threatened move of Belleville city officials to seek a court order directing the commission to include the city in the monthly allocations of state funds.

The allocation to Belleville, which is co-extensive with a township, was dropped last July after the attorney general held a transfer of $70,000 from the township relief fund to the city treasurer for use largely on streets and roads was improper.

State house officials said they feared that should Belleville seek the writ of mandamus, all the relief funds might be tied up but the attorney general's office expressed the opinion they would not.

The law requires that IERC allocations can be made only to communities which levy a pauper tax of 30 cents and don't have other resources available.

Since the original transfer, the city has returned $20,000 to the township relief fund. At a conference last week with Belleville officials, the attorney general's office stood its ground on the original ruling and held that an allocation could not be advised until the remaining $50,000 was given back to the township.

Commission officials said that while there are several Illinois cities co-extensive with townships, it is the first time such a problem has arisen.

Belleville asked for an allocation of $7,745 for March but the commission contended that the city had $34,314 available from a local levy to meet relief needs for both March and April.

Of the 1,454 relief units in the state, 528 were eligible for March allocations. A total of $5,673,713 was sought for the month but only the maximum monthly allotment of $2,900,000 was available for distribution.

The estimated downstate case load for March was 100,177, with an estimated average payment of $22.55, while an estimated 103,695 persons in Cook county received an apparent average of $35.05.

Los Angeles—

war veterans and the national guard.

Raging down a normally dry course, flinging huge timbers about like matchwood, the Los Angeles river became a weapon of death yesterday.

Many Carried to Death
It crashed a pedestrian bridge at the ocean's edge west of Long Beach and 10 persons were believed carried to death. Three were rescued by navy boats.

Farther north, in the Bell district, a falling power line pole crushed the Gage avenue bridge over the river. Four persons were reported swept away.

Bodies were reported seen in the river, where it curls around the edge of Universal studio in San Fernando valley. The number was not established. Hours later, the body of a 50-year-old woman was washed up on the river bank near Elysian park.

Five motorists were believed drowned at Riverside when their cars were engulfed by the rising Santa Ana river.

A wall of water rushing down Lytle Creek near San Bernardino claimed the lives of three men, a woman and a boy.

Landslides and floods caused other deaths in southern counties. Northern and central California also felt the effects of the storm, but conditions there were not so serious.

BLOCKS PLANE RESCUE
Fresno, Calif., March 3—(AP)—Searching parties, blocked once by flood and darkness, renewed their efforts to reach a great mountain-side car 60 miles east of here today in hopes of locating an airliner which vanished with nine persons Tuesday night.

A raging river, outgrowth of the storm that engulfed the plane, prevented searchers from reaching the 200-foot scratch in the high Sierras at dusk yesterday to investigate mysterious lights and an undistinguishable white object nearby.

The Fresno county sheriff's office said it had checked, and believed authentic, reports that the plane set off a flare which lighted up the area near the scar about 9:40 Tuesday night. This was 10 minutes after the wife of a power company official reported she heard a plane at only 500 feet altitude in that vicinity.

Search directors here began mobilization of 22 planes to scan the rugged snow-packed mountains where the Transcontinental & Western Air luxury ship disappeared.

The big twin-motored craft, carrying six passengers and a crew of three, left San Francisco at 6:33 p. m. Tuesday bound for Albuquerque, N. M., on a regular flight east.

Because of an approaching storm the plane headed for Los Angeles instead. Unable to get through the storm, the plane turned back and disappeared while seeking an emergency landing field.

Chicago, March 3—(AP)—Five robbers in a noon hour raid today on the 12th Street store obtained $10,570 in cash and an estimated $15,000 in checks. The store is not far from the Maxwell street police station in the famed Ghetto market section.

FUNERAL RITES FOR D'ANNUNZIO HELD IN GARDONE

Gardone Riviera, Italy, March 3—(AP)—The body of poet-warrior Gabriele D'Annunzio began its journey to the tomb today.

Throughout the night it had lain in state in the courtyard outside Vittorale, D'Annunzio's villa.

D'Annunzio's widow, the Princess of Monte Nevoso, arrived from Paris soon after nightfall last night, and knelt by the body for nearly three hours.

Soon after dawn, Premier Mussolini returned from Brescia where he spent the night, and watched as the body was placed in a simple oak coffin without decoration.

A cortege of several thousands followed the body as it was borne on a gun caisson to the parish church of San Niccolao.

Received Benediction
There, in the presence of Mussolini, his ministers and representatives of the royal family, the Fascist body and the Royal Academy, D'Annunzio received the benediction of the church which long had disapproved of him for his writings.

The cortege reformed, and the body was carried back to Vittorale. The three-inch caisson on the bow of the destroyer Pugil, set on the crest of a hill on the D'Annunzio estate, roared repeatedly as the cortege entered the grounds.

The body was placed upon the warship's guard where it was to remain under guard until night.

Tomorrow the body will be removed and placed temporarily near the tomb of the poet's mother among altars erected in memory of the Fiume legionnaires.

Later it will be given a permanent resting place in a mausoleum yet to be constructed.

Pleads Guilty—

Soviet's highly-important timber industry up to a few months ago eagerly told his judges he was a former czarist informer who joined the Bolsheviks as provocateur.

The ex-commissioner became a czarist police informer, he said, as a high school student at Tuia at the age of 17 and later as a medical student in Moscow, spying in both places on striking fellow students.

He joined the Bolshevik party in 1914 on orders of his czarist chief.

"Like a crow smelling carrion I joined the Left Communists," Ivanoff testified. The Left Communists were led by Bukharin.

Disputing Ivanoff's statement that he (Bukharin) had said in 1928 the time was ripe for an armed uprising, Bukharin said it was in 1932.

"I gave the uprising its orientation," he said. "Let me be held responsible for everything it involves."

LaFollette's contention, Walter B. Weisenburger, association vice president, said was "not fair."

LaFollette referred to bulletins distributed by the association to members.

campus romance at the University of Illinois.

Betty had been married twice before, to the same man. Three years ago she eloped with a 16-year-old high school boy. The marriage was annulled, but they remarried. Six months later they were divorced.

Investigation of the death weapon revealed no finger prints, the sheriff said, and an autopsy determined it was fired at a point about eight inches from the young woman's right breast. Slight powder burns were found on the body.

Because of the unusually long barrel of the revolver and its proximity to Mrs. Crabb's breast when fired, the sheriff said he doubted she could have fired it herself.

Naval Affairs—

levies spread in the House today after leaders decided not to impose a "gag" on tax revision debate.

Strength Uncertain
The strength of the repeal bloc, including many Republicans and some Democrats, was uncertain, although administration lieutenants expressed confidence they could defeat the proposal on a roll call vote.

Had a "gag" rule been adopted, it would have prevented consideration of repeal or other amendments.

Many members said frankly they had not studied the complicated legislation in detail, and were waiting for the 12 hours debate before making up their minds.

Revision of the tax laws was said by Senator Byrnes (D-SC) to have been the only solution to the recession offered at hearings before the Senate unemployment committee, which he heads.

Another major administration proposal—creation of wage-hour standards—still was being considered by a House labor sub-committee.

The Senate, continuing debate on the government reorganization bill, heard Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) criticize a provision to substitute one administrator for the three-man civil service commission.

The House passed a bill appropriating $125,086,000 for the interior department in the 1938-39 fiscal year.

As debate on the tax bill opened, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the ways and means committee predicted that through the new tax bill business would be "stimulated and encouraged."

Doughton told the House the bill would "vastly improve" the tax system with respect to "equity and certainty."

"The tax burden will be more fairly distributed and business will be stimulated and encouraged," he said.

Demand Probe
Both House and Senate heard demands for an investigation of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Resolutions by Senators King (D-Utah) and Bridges (R-NH) Representative Snell (R-NY), the House minority leader, would authorize the inquiry on the basis of charges by TVA Chairman A. E. Morgan.

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up By AP Writer

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
New York, March 3—(AP)—They now admit the Sonja Henie flight to Norway with Dick Merrill was just a publicity gag. . . Larry White, manager of Fred Apostoli, wasn't kidding when he wrote friends he was quitting San Francisco (because of that decision in the Young Corbett bout). . . He wired here yesterday for a home on Long Island. . . Heinie Manush, the outfielder (who still can sock 'em), wants $14,000 this year which is exactly twice what the Dodgers offered. . . Everyone here is glad to see Bill McCulloch back on the Brooklyn Eagle and doing a dandy job of baseball-writing for Sports Editor Jimmy Wood. . .

Mike Jacobs got back from a Miami vacation just in time to learn that Bill Farnsworth, his vice president and general manager, is considering returning to columing at $500 per week. . . Art Winch, one of Barney Ross' managers, thinks Hot Springs is the last word as a training camp for fighters. . . Red Rolfe will be the next Yankee in the fold, which will pave the way for the grand finale—Cunneen Rupp personally roping in Joe DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig at St. Pete. . . Some of the boys say Mein Herr is only waiting to find out how much DiMaggio will get. . .

Get out your record book: gents, and tune up on this one: The Regards basketball team representing Central "Y" at Reading, Pa., has averaged 70 points for 40 games. . . Whoops—or should it be hoops? . . . Best job of high-hatting at Miami this season was turned in by La Henie. She started with the governor and wound up with a cigarette betriess. . . Ford C. Frick, president of the National League, is back from a cruise of the West Indies. . . He'll take off in another 10 days for a tour of National League training camps. . . Pretty tough, not? . .

MEDWICK SIGNS
St. Petersburg, Fla., March 3—(AP)—Joe Medwick, National League batting champion, signed a one-year contract with the St. Louis Cardinals today. Medwick came to terms in a conference with Sam Breadon, owner of the St. Louis club. Salary figures were not announced.

GOOD PRICE FOR SWEETS
Clemson College, S. C.—(AP)—South Carolina farmers are getting from 10 to 15 cents a bushel more for their sweet potatoes, although the price in the big eastern markets is generally less than it was last season.

They obtained the price boost by growing a more popular strain, more careful harvesting and marketing methods and selling the potatoes under a uniform trade name.

MASON DOESN'T UNDERSTAND NEW U. S. FARM BILL

Washington, March 3—(AP)—Representative Mason (R-Ill.) made the "frank confession" to his constituents today that he does not understand the new farm bill.

Members of the Illinois congressional delegation have been receiving many inquiries relating to the measure and its meaning to Illinois farmers.

Mason said that for him the bill was "too complicated to understand."

"Its intricacies are confusing," he said, "its labyrinth of words is very difficult to follow. The bill itself contains 35,000 words, and the report that accompanied it contains 30,000 more words, most of which are of a highly technical nature."

"I have faithfully waded through the 65,000 words, and still I do not understand the ramifications of the measure. I am not alone, however, because even the authors and sponsors of the bill confess they do not understand it."

Rollo Smothers Morrison 43-18; Amboy Scars Dixon

GREEN RIVER VALLEY LOOP CHAMPS FAST

Win Stamps Them As Biggest Threat to Dixon

Given a bad scare by an inspired band of Amboy Scarlets, Dixon high survived the first round of regional tournament competition here Wednesday night by a 19 to 16 count and shakily annexed its eighth consecutive victory. Rollo Consolidated high school's smooth-working quint completely stifled Morrison 43 to 18 to advance into the semi-finals against Dixon Friday.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock, Steward's Blue and White team, runners-up in the Green River Valley conference to Rollo, will cast off against Prophetstown of the Two Rivers loop, while Sterling Township high goes against a none-too-easy Rock Falls five at 8:30 p. m., in games which will complete the first round.

Against Amboy, Dixon seemed to have the worst case of stage-fright. The Purple and White boys have suffered this year. They were so jittery the ball seemed to bounce off their fingers as though they were demoralized. Amboy on the other hand tied up Dixon's offense in knots and the locals seemed unable to get the ball off the bang-board no matter what combination was on the floor and Coach L. E. Sharpe frantically substituted several lightweight eagers in an attempt to piece together a clicking combination before it was too late. Finally he did so in the last quarter. Ankeny was removed from the game, and Dixon, after trailing Amboy the entire game, spurted into the lead and triumphed.

Case of "Butterfingers"—The first quarter was rough with neither team exhibiting anything except a bad case of butterfingers. Amboy drew first blood when Powers sank a basket that never even touched the rim to send Amboy rollers into a frenzy of delight. Before the period ended, Powers fouled Bevilacqua who gave Dixon a pair of gift shots to knot the count. The locals only made two field goals the entire first half. But for Amboy's inability to sink it, free shots the result might have been entirely different. Amboy kept the lead by a few points the entire first half except just before it ended when Bevilacqua gave the locals an 8 to 3 tie following quickly. Ankeny's short one under the hoop. However Amboy edged this a 9-8 lead before the ball sounded.

During the first half, the Purple and White team's percentage of completed baskets was only six percent out of about sixty shots attempted. In the second half it was a little better. Amboy dominated the play through the third period and at one time when Lynch swished in one from beyond the foul line with one hand while almost completely surrounded by Dixon players, Amboy built up a 15 to 10 lead. This proved to be the end of the Scarlets bid for advancement to the semi-finals however. Bugg was rushed into the game for Dixon and arched in a beautiful long shot from the side. This was followed by two quick baskets tipped in from beneath the Amboy hoop by Kerley and Eddie Callahan which gave Dixon a 15-16 tie and turned the tide of battle.

Amboy continued to battle stubbornly in the fourth quarter but the scoring punch was gone.

Runs Morrison Ragged
Rollo Consolidated high's surprisingly-strong quint ran Morrison ragged in the curtain-raiser. The G. R. V. C. champions, after momentary jitters in the first few moments of play, regained their poise completely and ran up a 14-4 lead. Then in the second quarter they coasted along without special exertion to a 22-8 margin. Sharp-shooting Douglas at forward, and Norman, that No. 8 terror, that fairly sizzled with speed, bore the brunt of Rollo's attack. Norman bombarded Morrison's basket from all angles, positions, and by most any method for a staggering eighty-point individual total.

Douglas looped in six baskets and a free throw to give Rollo 13 more points. They were supported by as clever and deceptive a passing game as has been seen on Dixon's floor this winter and as noble a demonstration of teamwork as it has been. A pleasure of fans here to witness.

Rollo didn't extend itself one bit in the third period, and played a slow, cautious game waiting only for chances to break through for short ones. These opportunities were plentiful through Morrison's tissue paper defenses.

By its astounding triumph the tiny school's hoopers became in an instant the greatest obstacle in Dixon's path to the regional title. With only twenty boys enrolled in the high school, Rollo has a team that might easily go straight into the finals if Dixon fails to recover a semblance of its form by Friday night when the two teams meet.

Diehl, Ponzi TRY TO CATCH CUE LEADERS
New York, March 3—(AP)—Joe Diehl, a rank outsider from Rockford, Ill., and Andrew Ponzi, a strong favorite, engage in second round matches today in an attempt to catch up with the three leaders of the world's pocket billiards championship tournament.

Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia, Irving Crane of Livonia, N. Y., and Marcel Camp of Detroit all won their second-round matches yesterday to form a triple deadlock for the lead with two victories and no defeats.

Mosconi beat Bennie Allen of Kansas City, 125 to 37, in 10 innings, and Camp routed Erwin Rudolph, like Allen an ex-champion, 125 to 59, in 16 innings of last night's play. Crane won his victory in the afternoon, trouncing George Kelly.

POLO, ROCHELLE CAPTURE OREGON REGIONAL TILTS

Favorites Advance Into Semi-Finals Of Tournament

(Telegraph Special Service)

Oregon, March 3—Polo and Rochelle, both favorites to reach the finals, advanced into the semi-finals of the Oregon regional basketball meet here Wednesday night, the Apostles easily disposing of Byron 39 to 22, and Rochelle trimming Oregon 30 to 16.

In tonight's games which began at 7:30 p. m. in the new Oregon Community high school gymnasium, Lee Center, champion of the Franklin Grove district tournament, will tangle with Stillman Valley, and Mt. Morris, runner-up to Polo in the Rock River Valley conference this season, will clash with Ashton's Green and Gold warriors of the Green River Valley loop.

Against Byron, Polo grabbed a 4-3 lead in the first quarter and increased it to 18-7 at the half. In the third period Polo held a 29-11 margin. Kaufman at guard rang up ten points for the Apostles while Smith was Byron's best threat with eleven points.

Rochelle had little trouble eliminating Oregon from the tournament by a 30-16 count. The Hub City quint edged into a 6-5 first period advantage and held a 13-7 half time lead while in the third quarter Rochelle continued to gain in building up a 20-10 advantage.

Activities of Major League Teams in the South and West Prior to Opening of Baseball Season

By The Associated Press

St. Petersburg, Fla.—One of the Yankees' "if" men, young Tommy Henrich, is on hand and ready to prove himself capable of holding down a regular outfield berth. Tommy drove in last night and will trot his celebrated trick knee, which underwent an operation this winter, into action at Joe McCarthy's command.

Baton Rouge, La.—Carl Hubbs, the Giants' great lefthander, should be "both right-handed and left-handed," according to Manager Bill Terry. Terry turned thumbs down on a suggestion that Hubbs pitch against the Athletics Saturday and Sunday. "He does not need the work," said Bill. Three lesser lights will toil three innings each instead.

Orlando, Fla.—Two of the rookies that bloom in the spring will get a chance to bolster the Washington Senators' pitching staff. Manager Bucky Harris indicated that Owen Wright and Bill Brainerd, who won 22 and 19 games respectively for Sanford of the Florida state league, would get a thorough trial.

Avalon, Calif.—With the arrival of 13 more Chicago Cubs, the rumormongers and bowling leagues broke up and all hands were ready for serious work.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Frankie Frisch is anxiously awaiting Paul Dean despite the fact that nine other pitchers of varied abilities are in the St. Louis Cardinals' camp. Paul, 30 pounds lighter than a year ago, reported: "There's no sign of pain in my arm."

HOCKEY FANS EAGER TO SEE GOPHER TEAM

Urbana, Ill., Mar. 3—Ice hockey enthusiasts are all agog over Minnesota's appearance on the Illinois rink tonight.

The Gophers have been playing hockey since 1921. This season they have won two and lost two in their series with their chief Big Ten rival, Michigan. They have defeated the University of Toronto, Michigan Tech (Houghton) and lost to Toronto, Manitoba and the Duluth Zephyrs, who recently beat the Minneapolis pro team.

Minnesota is coached by Larry Armstrong, former Canadian hockey and track star, who once represented Canada to several championships.

Minnesota's co-captains are Loane Randall, center, and Dick Kroll, veteran defense man. Kroll was selected on the mid-west all-star team last season. John Mariucci, also an end in football, one of the most colorful players in Minnesota history, leads the Gopher scoring. He has turned down an offer from one of the leading teams of the national league, Ray Wallace, left wing, was given honorable mention on the all-star team.

Petrich, Gopher goalie, who was hit on the head by a puck in the Michigan game Saturday, will be unable to play.

The Gophers will soon travel to the Pacific coast to play Southern California at Los Angeles and Gonzaga at Spokane.

The Illinois starting lineup will probably be: Beaumont, g; Bell, l.w.; White, r.w.; Babbitt, c; Fee, l.d.; Berner, r.d.

FAVORITES PASS FIRST CAGE TESTS

Most of Them Win By One-Sided Decisions

By The Associated Press
Favorites for the Illinois state high school basketball crown stirred up a wave of scoring predominantly one-sided last night as all but four of the 60 regional tournaments went into action. The others—Decatur, Rockford, Casey and Effingham—will join in the firing tonight.

Pacing the ranking teams were Little Burnside, undefeated now in 27 starts; Clay City, winner of 24 straight; Pekin, York of Elmhurst, Wood River and Mt. Carroll, all of whom have lost no more than two games, and Carbondale, undefeated since the new year.

Urbana topped the evening's scoring with a 68 to 26 victory over University high of Urbana. Carbondale was close behind with 66 to 26 decision over Carverville. Eight other teams, including Pekin, Danville and Mattoon, which like Urbana are in the Big Twelve conference, scored better than 50 points.

Of the outstanding favorites only Streator met with difficulty, being held to a 24 to 21 score by Marseilles. However, on two occasions teams fell before foes they had twice defeated earlier in the season. Granville and Naperville were the unfortunate, the former losing to Wenona and the latter to West Chicago.

Only one overtime came out of last night's activities, Roodhouse nosing out Chesterfield, 18 to 16. Three other games were decided by one point and four more by two.

A. B. C. CONGRESS OPENS ON FORTY ALLEYS TONIGHT

Continues 7 Weeks With Few Moments of Quiet

Chicago, March 3—(AP)—The
thunder from 40 alleys will signal
the opening of the 38th annual American Bowling Congress tournament at the coliseum tonight.

From 8 o'clock, when the first
200 of a record-breaking entry list
of 24,875 send the first balls down
the shining alleys, until midnight
on April 18, there will be few moments of quiet in this largest of tournaments. Day and night for seven weeks the Coliseum will echo
with the efforts of the nation's best
as they attempt to take down
shares of nearly $200,000 in prize
money.

Entries in each of the three divisions are A. B. C. records, with 17,441 singles participants, 8,620
doubles teams and 4,975 five-man
groups. They will come from every section of the United States, and
from Canada and Hawaii.

Most of them will be in action in
each of the three events, with total scores for the series figuring in
the all-events race. Defending champions in the four classes will
all be back in the running for repeat championships—rare feats in
A. B. C. history.

Both star teams, those with an average in excess of $75, and booster fives with marks below that
tonight. After the opening ceremonies the alleys will be turned over to 40 high-scoring aggregations
from Chicago, Milwaukee and near-
by cities. After they officially have inaugurated the drives, 40 booster
teams will take over.

Victory over the Hoosiers would
give the Illini a record of five wins
or seven defeats, all in an excellent performance, considering the
various vicissitudes which have befallen them.

The exciting game with Michigan
and the probability that the Indiana match will be another thriller
has accelerated the ticket sale. Accommodations are still available
and possibly tickets may be obtained at the door Friday night but the wise fans are making reservations now.

Harry Lasater, whose shoulder
was put out of place by a fall in the Michigan game, will not be able to play. Chuck Phillips, Carl Davies
and Joe Frank are possibilities for the guard positions thus made vacant.

Indiana, which beat Illinois in its
first Big Ten game, is far stronger than its record of three wins and eight losses indicates. The Hoosiers lost to Minnesota, 36-37, to Northwestern, 32-34, to Purdue, 36-38 and
to Wisconsin, 32-34. Their leading player is Ernest Andres, junior
guard, who ranks fourth in Big Ten
scoring with 132 points.

Chicago, March 3—(AP)—Maxine Gray, 24 year old brunette orchestra singer injured in a Wabash
train wreck a week ago, was found
to be suffering from measles.

Dr. Loyal Davis said the disease
was contracted before the accident,
since the incubation period exceeds
ten days. It will keep Miss Gray
in the hospital two weeks more.

The singer suffered scalp lacerations
when the train, carrying the orchestra from St. Louis to Chicago, struck a truck and was derailed.

The Sahara desert has an area
of 3,459,500 square miles, nearly
as large as the continent of Europe.

Chicago, March 3—(AP)—Circuit Judge William J. Fulton granted a temporary injunction yesterday
to restrain picketing at the Murray
Hat Corporation plant. Hearing on a motion to make the order permanent has been set for Monday.

The suit was filed by Sidney
Lindsay, president of an independent union, and directed against Local No. 66 of the International Hat-
ters, Cap & Millinery Workers Union, an affiliate of the A. F. of L.
The union called the strike Monday
for recognition as collective bargaining agent.

Murray Offenberger, company president, said, however, that employes
expressed a desire to be represented
by an independent union.

M. S. Ryder, representing the National Labor Relations Board and William G. Murray, state labor conciliator, both of Chicago, who came
here in an effort to settle the strike,
said negotiations failed. They returned to Chicago.

The peace parley was held after

Chicago, March 3—(AP)—Dartel

guilty yesterday by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan on a charge of possessing stolen government property.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney Martin Ward presented evidence to show Helms had purchased, for $20
last October, fixtures stripped from a home near Libertyville owned by the Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

A hearing on a motion for a new trial was set for March 11.

Four Waukegan youths who pleaded guilty to stealing the fixtures will be sentenced the same day. They were John, 20, and Les-

Traxler, 20, and Roy J. Jensen, 20.

For Love of Polly

POLLY CHELSEY, heroine;
stranded in London when war
breaks out.
JERRY WHITFIELD, hero; the Yankee who sees her through.
F. A. HELL BANKS, privateer
captain.

Yesterday, arriving safely in America, Polly leaves Jerry for
her home in Connecticut; he puts out again to sea. Will he come back, she wonders?

CHAPTER XXVI

THE war was not over before Christmas. Nor before the spring came. It grew fiercer and flamed inland along the frontiers.

On sea the fighting approached the fantastic. Almost without a navy
the United States was holding her
own, doing it by means of a few
well-managed war sloops (you
might count them on your fingers)

and those little privateers that
were pouring out of every American port to sting the proud British
Navy like a swarm of wasps.

On the day that Polly's son was born in her father's house in Connecticut, the clipper Gray Gull
was having a reckless try at an armed British merchantman almost twice her size.

The Gull was not without experience. Several times during the winter she had intercepted
West Indianmen coming up from Jamaica and had crippled them
considerably; but always other ships in the English convey had driven off the fragile clipper before she could take her prize.

The question of money became acute to the Gull's officers. The unpaid crew was loyal, cheerfully
foregoing pay; but the matter of procuring food for 75 hearty men
was a problem that kept Cabell
and Jerry awake and scheming
through many a night when they should have been sleeping.

"I'd not have expected my father to be so pig-headed about
this," Cabell said.

Soon after getting his letter of
marque from President Madison
he had asked his father for $5000
with which to finance his cruise.

He asked it by land post from Wilmington, since Boston was inaccessible by water at the time.
The letter that came in answer
was violent and scathing.

"You exceeded yourself when
you bought the clipper on my authority. I will pay for it since
the debt is made, but I will not
subsidize it nor give you another
ship if you lose that one. I do not hold with Mr. Madison's war and I wish to keep out of it. I insist that my son keep out of it. These insults we have had from England

had better be ignored than fought
over . . ."

Cabell had replied by requesting
his father's lawyer to send him at once a small inheritance he had
had from a relative's estate "since
I am of age and the money is mine." This amount was transferred to him at a Wilmington
bank and it was now almost spent.

It was during their stop at Wilmington that Jerry and Cabell
had the recipe for taking a British merchantman which they were
now about to put into practice:

"You cut out your ship after
dark," a reckless young Carolinian
told them. "Don't attack the first big one you see. She's apt to be the lookout. Wait for a staggerer.
When you've ticked your laggard,
sail round her and cut her from
the pack. Then take her." There followed advice more explicit
from the young man who sailed a Baltimore clipper as light as the Gull and who was not troubled
with New England caution. He had already taken four prizes, he said,
and had divided the spoils among
a gratified crew.

That May day when Polly's son
was crying his first cries, the Gray
Gull was cruising off the coast of
northern France, boldly attempting to spy out a convoy of homecoming merchantmen from foreign waters.

Toward evening a fleet was spied by the lookouts. At this news Jerry climbed the ratlines to see how many sail there were and
how well protected. He climbed down to confer with Cabell. He had counted more than a score, he
said, with what appeared to be two
men-of-war convoying the fleet.

"We're not worth chasing," Jerry
pointed out, "but if they see us
following, one of the frigates will rake us. Do you agree?"

Cabell did and ordered the man
at the wheel to port helm. They put out into the Atlantic, determined to withdraw from sight as if
making westward passage.

A feeling of elation seized them
all. Not a man among them but wished for action and a streak of luck. So far, the Gray Gull had
not justified her letter of marque
as a privateer. If she had stung
the English Navy, it was as a nervous kick rather than as an angry
hornet.

The test had arrived. When dusk was falling the Gray Gull's
crew brought her east, northeast,
with all lights doused, in toward
the rich prizes that were nearing
the sea girt island called England.
Bristol would be the fleet's destination, for it had passed Land's End and showed no intention of

entering the Channel. This much
was to the Gray Gull's advantage.

AND now luck came at last. The
hindmost ship was lagging.
From her lanterns, fore and aft
and quarterdeck, they could judge
her size. A large merchant ship,
about 500 tons, tall sparred, three
masted and square sailed.

The Gray Gull, with Jerry at
the helm, came up on her slowly
and silently, sailed to larboard of
her for a time, passed her and all
but crossed her bows; wore ship
and crossed her stern, then came
up to starboard. Looking up, they could see that she was lightly
manned and that those who sailed
her were celebrating some event in the cup that cheers.

Jerry conferred with Cabell. He said, "I'll take her without firing
a round if you'll give me a dozen
men."

"We'll have to fire, of course.
Just the cannonades. A few rounds
and she's ours. We'll have her
before they can man the guns.
We'll board her and run her off
in record time." It was the method
of the young Carolinian, applicable
here to perfection.

"Give me 12 men and a long
boat," Jerry said again, "and I'll take her. I'll board her by stealth."

Cabell called him a madman,
cursed him softly while the crew
stood on the Gull's larboard deck
and strained their eyes toward the merchantman. It was fantastic to be sailing beside the big ship in
the darkness, just out of range of
her lantern rays, unseen and un-
suspected. Now and again the Gray Gull's sailors would take in
more of her sail to keep pace with the laggard. The British ship was being so badly handled that her
sailors were scarcely getting eight
knots out of her.

Jerry said, "Give me my chance,
Cabell! I want a ship of my own.
I'll even it up by giving you most of my cargo. Give me 12 of your men. That'll leave you 60,
and more. Bill Gill can replace
me as mate. He's as good a seaman, any way you take him."

"Rats!" exclaimed Cabell. He was referring to the last remark.
"Nobody could replace you." But
he put out his hand and gripped Jerry's. "Take the best of the
long boats," he said, "and pick
your men. . . . But God help you.
I doubt if Polly would thank me
for this."

At that moment Polly was an unreal dream to Jerry Whitfield.
A dim beautiful dream from whom
he had had no word since their
parting. This venture and this peril were reality, more urgent
than heartbeat, sweeter than lips
of woman.

STERLING WIRE COMPANY STRIKE ENDED LAST EVE

C. I. O. Strikers Agree to Labor Board Relations
Election

A National Labor Relations Board
election was advanced today as the
medium for settling differences between C. I. O. and A. F. of L. labor unions at the Northwestern Barb Wire Company plant in Sterling,
scene of two strike clashes since
midnight Monday.

Spokesmen for the Committee for Industrial Organization agreed at a conference yesterday to abide by a
NLRB vote on whether the C. I. O.
Steel Workers Organizing Committee or the Twin City Labor Union,
an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, should be the sole bargaining agent. No date was set for the balloting. Both claimed a majority of the personnel.

The conference was attended by union and company officials and Judge O. E. Sheldon, the company's attorney, and Mayor W. E. Long of Sterling.

The peace parley was held after
a deputy sheriff and three employes
were wounded by bullets and an-
other worker was burned by tear
gas in two separate clashes within
a 24-hour period.

A. B. C. CONGRESS OPENS ON FORTY ALLEYS TONIGHT

Few Moments of Quiet

Chicago, March 3 — (AP) — The
thunder from 40 alleys will signal
the opening of the 38th annual American Bowling Congress tournament at the coliseum tonight.

From 8 o'clock, when the first
200 of a record-breaking entry list
of 24,875 send the first balls down
the shining alleys, until midnight
on April 18, there will be few
moments of quiet in this largest of
tournaments. Day and night for
seven weeks the Coliseum will echo
with the efforts of the nation's best
as they attempt to take down
shares of nearly $200,000 in prize
money.

Entries in each of the three divisions are A. B. C. records, with 17,441 singles participants, 8,620
doubles teams and 4,975 five-man
groups. They will come from every section of the United States, and
from Canada and Hawaii.

Most of them will be in action in
each of the three events, with total scores for the series figuring in
the all-events race. Defending
champions in the four classes will
all be back in the running for repeat championships—rare feats in
A. B. C. history.

Both star teams, those with an
average in excess of 875, and boost-
tonight. After the opening ceremonies the alleys will be turned
over to 40 high-scoring aggregations
from Chicago, Milwaukee and near-
by cities. After they officially have
inaugurated the drives, 40 booster
teams will take over.

ILLINI HAPPY OVER BEATING WOLVERINES

Champaign, Ill., Mar. 3 — Illinois basketball players, happy over beating Michigan by a sensational last-minute rally, hope to close the season here Friday night by repulsing Indiana.

Victory over the Hoosiers would
give the Illini a record of five wins
of seven defeats, all in an excellent performance, considering the
various vicissitudes which have be-
fallen them.

The exciting game with Michigan
and the probability that the Illinois match will be another thriller
has accelerated the ticket sale. Accommodations are still available
and possibly tickets may be obtained at the door Friday night but the wise fans are making reservations
now.

Harry Laster, whose shoulder
was put out of place by a fall in the
play. Chuck Phillips, Carl Davies
and Joe Frank are possibilities for the guard positions thus made vacant.

Indiana, which beat Illinois in its
first Big Ten game, is far stronger
than its record of three won and eight lost indicates. The Hoosiers
lost to Minnesota, 36-37, to Northwestern, 29-32, to Purdue, 36-38 and
to Wisconsin, 32-34. Their leading
player is Ernest Andres, junior
guard, who ranks fourth in Big Ten
scoring with 132 points.

Orchestra Leader Injured In Wreck Victim of Measles

Chicago, March 3 — (AP) — Max-
ine Gray, 24 year old brunette orchestra singer injured in a Wabash
train wreck a week ago, was found
to be suffering from measles.

Dr. Loyal Davis said the disease
was contracted before the accident,
since the incubation period exceeds
ten days. It will keep Miss Gray
in the hospital two weeks more.

when the train, carrying the orchestra from St. Louis to Chicago, struck a truck and was derailed.

The Sahara desert has an area
of 3,450,500 square miles, nearly
as large as the continent of Europe.

For Love of Polly

By RACHEL MACK

POLLY CHELSEY, heroine
stranded in London when war
breaks out.
JERRY WHITEFIELD, hero: the Yankee who saves her through
C. I. O. L. HANKS, privateer
captain.

America, Polly leaves Jerry for
her home in Connecticut; he puts
out again to sea. Will he come
back, she wonders.

CHAPTER XXVI

THE war was not over before Christmas. Nor before the spring came. It grew fiercer and
flamed inland along the frontiers.
On sea the fighting approached the
fantastic. Almost without a navy
the United States was holding her
own, doing it by means of a few
well-managed war sloops (you
might count them on your fingers)
and those little privateers that
were pouring out of every American port to sting the proud British
Navy like a swarm of wasps.

On the day that Polly's son was
born in her father's house in Connecticut, the clipper Gray Gull
was having a reckless try at an
armed British merchantman almost twice her size.

The Gull was not without experience. Several times during the winter she had intercepted
West Indianmen coming up from Jamaica and had crippled them
considerably; but always other ships in the English convoy had driven off the fragile clipper before she could take her prize.

The question of money became
acute to the Gull's officers. The
unpaid crew was loyal, cheerfully
foregoing pay; but the matter of
procuring food for 75 hearty men
was a problem that kept Cabell
and Jerry awake and scheming
through many a night when they
should have been sleeping.

"I'd not have expected my
father to be so pig-headed about
this," Cabell said.

Soon after getting his letter of
marque from President Madison
he had asked his father for $5000
with which to finance his cruise.
He asked it by land post from Wilmington, since Boston was in-
accessible by water at the time.
The letter that came in answer
was violent and scathing.

"You exceeded yourself when
you bought the clipper on my
authority. I will pay for it since
the debt is made, but I will not
subsidize it nor give you another
ship if you lose that one. I do not hold with Mr. Madison's war and I wish to keep out of it. I insist
that my son keep out of it. These
insults we have had from England

over . . ."

Cabell had replied by requesting
his father's lawyer to send him at
once a small inheritance he had
had from a relative's estate "since
I am of age and the money is
mine." This amount was transferred to him at a Wilmington
bank and it was now almost spent.

IT was during their stop at Wilmington that Jerry and Cabell
had the recipe for taking a British merchantman which they were
now about to put into practice.

"You cut out your ship after
dark," a reckless young Carolinian
told them. "Don't attack the first
brig you see. She's apt to be the lookout. Wait for a straggler.
When you've picked your laggard,
sail round her and cut her from
the pack. Then take her." There
followed advice more explicit
from the young man who sailed a Baltimore clipper as light as the Gull and who was not troubled
with New England caution. He had already taken four prizes, he said,
a gratified crew.

That May day when Polly's son
was crying his first cries, the Gray
Gull was cruising off the coast of
northern France, boldly attempt-
ing to spy out a convoy of homecoming merchantmen from foreign
waters.

Toward evening a fleet was spied by the lookouts. At this
news Jerry climbed the ratlines to
see how many sail there were and
how well protected. He climbed
down to confer with Cabell. He
had counted more than a score, he
said, with what appeared to be two
men-of-war convoying the fleet.

They decided to wear ship and sail west to avoid being detected.
"We're not worth chasing," Jerry
pointed out, "but if they see us
following, one of the frigates will take us. Do you agree?"

Cabell said and ordered the man
at the wheel to port helm. They
put out into the Atlantic, determined to withdraw from sight as if
making westward passage.
A feeling of elation seized them
all. Not a man among them but wished for action and a streak of
luck. So far, the Gray Gull had
not justified her letter of marque
as a privateer. If she had stung
the English Navy, it was as a nervous cat rather than as an angry
hornet.

The test had arrived. When dark was falling the Gray Gull's
crew brought her east, northeast,
with all lights doused, in toward
the rich prizes that were nearing
the sea girt island called England.
Bristol would be the fleet's destination, for it had passed Land's End and showed no intention of

entering the Channel. This much
was to the Gray Gull's advantage.

AND now luck came at last. The
hindmost ship was lagging.
From her lanterns, fore and aft
and quarterdeck, they could judge
her size. A large merchant ship,
about 500 tons, tall sparred, three
masted and square sailed.

The Gray Gull, with Jerry at
the helm, came up on her slowly
and silently, sailed to larboard of
her for a time, passed her and all
but crossed her bows; wore ship
and crossed her stern, then came
up to starboard. Looking up, they
could see that she was lightly
manned and that those who sailed
here were celebrating some event in the cup that chess.

Jerry conferred with Cabell. He
said, "I'll take her without firing
a round if you'll give me a dozen
men."

"We'll have to fire, of course.
Just the cannonades. A few rounds
and she's ours. We'll have her
before they can man the guns.
We'll board her and run her off
in record time." It was the method
of the young Carolinian, applicable
here to perfection.

"Give me 12 men and a long
boat," Jerry said again, "and I'll take her. I'll board her by stealth."

Cabell called him a madman,
cursed him softly while the crew
stood on the Gull's larboard deck
and strained their eyes toward the merchantman. It was fantastic to
be sailing beside the big ship in
the darkness, just out of range of
her lantern rays, unseen and un-
suspected. Now and again the Gray Gull's sailors would take in
more of her sail to keep pace with
the laggard. The British ship was
being so badly handled that her
sailors were scarcely getting eight
knots out of her.

Jerry said, "Give me my chance,
Cabell! I want a ship of my own.
I'll even it up by giving you most of her cargo. Give me 12 of your men. That'll leave you 60,
and more. Bill Gill can replace
me as mate. He's as good a sea-

"Rate!" exclaimed Cabell. He was referring to the last remark.
"Nobody could replace you." But
he put out his hand and gripped
Jerry's. "Take the best of the
long boats," he said, "and pick
your men. . . . But God help you.
I doubt if Polly would thank me
for this."

At that moment Polly was an unreal dream to Jerry Whitefield.
A dim beautiful dream from whom
he had had no word since their
parting. This venture and this
peril were reality, more urgent
than heartbeat, sweeter than lips
of woman.

STERLING WIRE COMPANY STRIKE ENDED LAST EVE

C. I. O. Strikers Agree to
Election

A National Labor Relations Board
election was advanced today as the
medium for settling differences between C. I. O. and A. F. of L. labor unions at the Northwestern Bar
Wire Company plant in Sterling
scene of two strike clashes since
midnight Monday.

Spokesmen for the Committee for Industrial Organization agreed at a
conference yesterday to abide by a
NLRB vote on whether the C. I. O.
Steel Workers Organizing Committee or the Twin City Labor Union,
an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, should be the sole bargaining agent. No date was set for the balloting. Both claimed a majority of the personnel.

The conference was attended by company and company officials and Judge O. E. Sheldon, the company's attorney, and Mayor W. E. Long of Sterling.

The peace parley was held after
a deputy sheriff and three employes
were wounded by bullets and an-
other worker was burned by tear
gas in two separate clashes within
a 24-hour period.

INJUNCTION ISSUED

DeKalb, Ill., March 3 — (AP) — Circuit Judge William J. Fulton granted a temporary injunction yesterday
to restrain picketing at the Murray
Hat Corporation plant. Hearing on
a motion to make the order permanent has been set for Monday.

The suit was filed by Sidney
Lindsay, president of an independent union, and directed against Local No. 66 of the International Hat-
ters, Cap & Millinery Workers Union, an affiliate of the A. F. of L.
The union called the strike Monday
for recognition as collective bargaining agent.

Murray Offenberger, company president, said, however, that employes
expressed a desire to be represented
by an independent union.

M. S. Ryder, representing the National Labor Relations Board and
William G. Murray, state labor con-
ciliator, both of Chicago, who came
here in an effort to settle the strike,
said negotiations failed. They re-

Republican Meeting Sterling Mar. 11 is Announced

Republican candidates for state offices will appear in Sterling Friday, March 11, at 2 P. M. at the State theater. Richard Lyons, candidate for U. S. senator, will be the principal speaker. The Sterling meeting will be attended by Republicans of Jo Daviess, Stephenson, Carroll, Ogle, Lee and Whiteside counties. Later in March, a dinner will be served by the Whiteside county Republican Women's club, and county, district and state candidates will speak.

There are 286 women employed as hostesses, and 105 men employed as stewards on American-operated airlines.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Madame Secretary, Lewis planned to make Pritchett his representative at the party.

Finally he relented and appointed Charles P. Howard, of the International Typographical Union, who will represent the CIO at the speakers' table. The CIO is so irked with the Perkins regime however, that few other officials will attend.

Ambassadorial Rehearsal
The British officials who are now receiving the new Ambassador from the United States would probably be astonished if they knew what a jocular scene it was when the Honorable Joseph P. Kennedy took the oath of office as Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

The scene was the President's office in the White House. Photographers had been admitted to take shots of the ceremony. Associate Justice Stanley Reed was to administer the oath.

In high good humor, the President looked about and said to Son Jimmy, "Where's the bride?" Jimmy said he didn't know. The President laughed and in walked Stanley Reed.

"But Stanley," said the President, "where are your robes? Have you forgotten your robes? Whereupon Reed retorted, "But Mr. President, where are your tails?" Everybody laughed again, and from another door Kennedy came in grinning.

"Behold the bride!" announced the President.

Then the cameramen had a heyday. While they were "shooting," two flashlight bulbs exploded, and somebody said this was a salute in honor of the Ambassador.

The oath was rehearsed so many times for the cameras that they almost forgot the real business of the day.

The President finally broke in with, "Hold on, we mustn't forget what we're here for, Stanley, do your stuff."

Labor Attack
The five reactionary Democratic members of the House Rules Committee, who refused to support a rule allowing the Wage-Hour Bill to be debated last session, have been marked for special attention at the polls this fall by labor groups and liberals.

Howard W. Smith, of Virginia, is to be opposed by William E. Dodd, Jr., son of the former Ambassador to Germany. Second on the list is Eugene E. Cox, of Georgia, who will be opposed by W. J. Crowe, of Sylvester, Georgia.

Crowe, who is in his thirties, is ardently pro-labor and for the New Deal. Cox is an extreme demagogue, who announced that CIO organizers attempting organization work in his district would be repelled by the "flower of Southern manhood."

Crowe, as a member of the Georgia State legislature, was on the committee which brought about reorganization of the State Government, with a reduction and merging of many duplicating offices and bureaus.

"Heil Britannia!"
Following his recent broadcast to Britain on the subject of democracy, Secretary Ickes was deluged with fan mail. One letter stood out from all the rest. It was a four-line poem by Witter Bynner, to whom the Eden-Chamberlain row was a victory for the "black plague" of fascism. He wrote:

"Heil Britannia!"
"Bare your white open breast to the black plague,
Anoint your arm with it, likewise your leg,
Your unicorn, your lion and your crown—
Loosen your tongue for it and lap it down."

Merry-Go-Round
While Italy and Germany are providing fresh and appealing radio programs to South America daily, U. S. is providing canned broadcasts. World Wide Broadcasting Foundation recently foisted upon Latin American listeners—if any—a translated speech by the Columbian Minister to Washington, which he had delivered four months ago.

Members of the American Labor Party predict they will have Representatives in Congress at the next session. . . . If you want to see your favorite Washington columnist taken for a ride, read Margaret Marshall in the last "Nation" . . . The State Department is keeping careful account of planes exported to Mexico, investigating the charge that such planes are diverted to Loyalist Spain . . . Mrs. Maury Maverick, wife of the scrappy Texas Congressman, is taking up typing and shorthand, possibly to emulate another Texan, Mrs. Garner, who is secretary to the Vice President . . .

Cost of the next regular decennial census of 1940 is estimated at $58,000,000 compared with $39,500,000 for 1930. One reason for the increased cost: there are more people to count.

Tit for Tat
Representative Michael J. Bradley, pugacious freshman Democrat from Philadelphia, won more recognition from colleagues by his recent ten-minute verbal unmasking of Representative Martin Dies, of Texas, than most professional orators achieve in a life-time of windjamming.

Bradley almost chased the Texan off the floor in a wave of laughter when he contrasted his unyielding opposition to the Wage-Hour Bill with the militant liberalism of his campaign speeches. The House enjoyed Dies' discomfiture because at some time or other nearly every member has been stung by his barbed sarcasm.

Bradley immediately began a sought-for speaker for Democratic functions. (Copyright, 1938, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Although most solar eclipses are seen between 6 in the morning and 6 in the evening, the polar regions occasionally are treated to the spectacle of an eclipse of the midnight sun.

Know Where $1250 In Radium Is But Search Continues

Chicago, March 3.—(AP)—The hunt for 50 milligrams of radium worth $1,250 which was lost at a suburban Oak Park hospital appeared today to have just started although searchers know where it is.

The tiny needles which held the radium and a platinum tube enclosing them apparently were reduced to bits in the hospital incinerator.

With the aid of an electroscope, searchers discovered the presence of radium in a rubbish pile at the village dump. They scraped up 26 bushels of ashes and carried them to the hospital basement.

Experts said the nearest refineries were in New York or Philadelphia and the cost of extracting the radium might be greater than the price of a fresh supply.

Hospital officials weren't perturbed. The ashes and radium now belong to an insurance company.
